Manchurian General Declares War On Japan

Call For China Troops To Mass Against Japanese

Tokio Newspapers Report Gen. Mah, Whose Troops Suffered in Battle With Japanese at Nonni River Last Week, Has Issued Manifesto to Chinese Nation Declaring State of War With Japan and Asking Other Chinese Leaders to Send Troops to Tsitsihar, to Aid Him in Fight to Finish

JAPANESE SEIZE BANK FUNDS IN MANCHURIA

Geneva, Nov. 9.—Dr. Alfred Sze, Chinese member on the League of Nations Council, this evening told the League secretariat he had been informed in a message from the chief inspector of salt revenue in Manchuria that the Japanese military had seized all funds of the Bank of China and of the Bank of Communications at Changchun.

Associated Press

Tokio, Nov. 9.—Vernacular newspapers and press dispatches to-night said General Mah Chanshan of Heilungkiang Province had issued a manifesto to the Chinese nation declaring war on Japan.

Heilungkiang, in Northern Manchuria, has been cut off from the rest of China by the Japanese occupation.

There was no indication in the dispatches the Hanking government was involved in the manifesto.

It was brought out, however, that General Mah had telegraphed to Chinese Nationalist and Manchurian leaders in Peiping asking them to order mobilization at Tsitsihar, Heilungkiang capital, of troops of Kikin Province, to assist him in his contemplated finish fight against Japan.

The War Office was informed 8,000 Chinese troops were being concentrated south of Tsitsihar.

BOMBARDMENT REPORTED

Tokio, Nov. 9.—Reports that the Chinese general, Mah Chuan-shan had declared war against Japan and actually opened hostilities by bombarding the position at Taitshing, Manchuria, where he was defeated in sharp fighting last week, filled Tokyo newspapers to-day.

Both lacked confirmation in official quarters. The first of these came to the newspaper Nichi Nichi from Mukden.

The Ashai said the bombardment, begun by the Chinese this morning, could be heard for miles in the region of the bridge.

Search In Wilds For Missing Woman Fails

B.C. Constable and Trapper, Finding Faint Footprints, Reach Conclusion Miss Mary Warburton Wandered Off Trail Far North of Vancouver

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Nov. 9.—Tracing the footprints of Miss Mary Warburton, sixty-year-old nurse, over the Indian River trail from Squamish to the head of North Arm of Burrard Inlet, Provincial Constable W. Gill discovered a note left in a cabin she had occupied. The officer, who was accompanied by Jack Hayburg, trapper of Squamish, also saw signs indicating she had pitched a small tent farther along the trail, and at another point a woman's footprint in the snow.

With no other trace of the missing woman, it is believed she wandered off the Indian River trail, beyond a point where she might have turned south over the divide via Seymour Creek into North Vancouver, and became lost.

The search party arrived at Indian River yesterday and returned to Squamish to-day.

MAY HUNT AGAIN

Constable Gill is awaiting instructions from headquarters, which are considering sending him in again, this time equipped with snowshoes, to follow routes Miss Warburton might have taken from the Indian River trail.

Leaving Squamish last Thursday, the two men found travel impeded by adverse weather conditions. It was raining and snow had commenced to fall, so the trail on the higher levels was completely obliterated. Creeks had become swollen torrents, and the officer

Bullets Fly And Bombs Burst In Tientsin Riots

Machine Gun Engagement Follows Lull After First Faction Fight

Japanese Troops Reported to Have Fired 40 Shells Into Chinese Section of City

Tientsin, China, Nov. 9.—Bursts of machine gun fire crackled on the western outskirts of this city just before midnight, and it appeared that yesterday's fighting between Chinese police and a rebel force had been renewed.

STREETS DESERTED

The streets in the Japanese concession were deserted and there was an ominous quiet in the city itself. It was reported Chinese troops moving from Lang Fang were headed toward Peiping instead of toward Tientsin.

During the day the police had made preparations for a renewal of the attack by 2,000 rebels who participated in riots yesterday evening near the entrance to the Chinese city from the Japanese concession.

During that fighting the Japanese troops were reported to have sent forty shells into the Chinese section, killing at least four Chinese and wounding ten or more.

The bombardment was attributed to refusal of General Wang Shu-chang, chairman of the Chinese provincial government, to submit to a Japanese demand that his police be withdrawn to a point 300 metres from the Japanese concession boundary.

Two United States women stationed at the Methodist mission in the danger zone on the outskirts of the city to-night were placed aboard an outgoing steamer.

BOMBED BY JAPANESE

Peiping, Nov. 9.—Chinese official dispatches from Tientsin said Japanese troops were reported to have sent forty shells into the Chinese section, killing at least four Chinese and wounding ten or more.

SEARCH FOR KIDNAPPED MAN NOT SUCCESS

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 9.—Police and members of his family to-day professed to be still without clues in the kidnapping of Alexander Berg, millionaire fur dealer.

The Globe-Democrat to-day said it had learned an intensive search was being made for a former St. Louis gangster, whose name was not disclosed. The gangster, the newspaper said, was out on $50,000 bond awaiting trial for a bank robbery.

Mr. Berg was abducted last Friday evening on busy Lindel Boulevard as he was being driven to his home by his negro chauffeur.

Civic Election Moves Hanging Fire Now For Decision of Anscomb

Mayor Is Silent On His Plans For Next Year; Two More Mayoralty Candidates Expected If He Does Not Seek Return to Office; Also Affects Council Contest

While this week promises to hold in store for civic voters the major part of interest in the annual election campaign as far as the aldermanic contest is concerned, in City Hall circles this morning the burning question of discussion was the mayoralty.

Queries flying thick and fast about "what is Mayor Anscomb going to do" were answered from both angles and with the mayor himself still silent the whole mayoralty contest is up in the air.

Ardent supporters of the present mayor are quite positive he will seek re-election. They intend to make up a delegation and ask him to do so. On the other hand several people close to the mayor in civic circles state they have definite knowledge he will not stand for a fourth term.

Meanwhile there are about five prospective candidates for different offices hanging fire until the mayor makes his announcement. At least two of them consider standing for the mayoralty if the present incumbent decides to retire, it is reported. In addition there are two who will probably seek council seats if he stands again but will not put their names up if he does not. One proposed police board candidate, it is understood, is also awaiting Mayor Anscomb's announcement.

Some observers of civic politics were of the opinion to-day that the mayor should announce himself one way or the other as soon as possible. While they would like to see him sitting in the chair next year they feel if he intends to retire an immediate announcement should be made in order that a thorough canvass of the city for the best possible candidates can be made.

The mayor's only comment has been, "Most people seem to know more about what I'm going to do than I do myself."

CALGARY DEATH

Calgary, Nov. 9.—Thomas Stoddart, aged sixty-two, assistant city treasurer of Calgary for the last seven years, died yesterday. He had been ill for two months.

HALF TAX SALE LIST NOW SOLD

City Takes Forty-five Out of Seventy-one Parcels Put on Block

Approximately half the parcels of land put on the block for the annual tax sale were disposed of last week. City Treasurer Edwin C. Smith announced this morning.

Twenty-six parcels went to private buyers for the total upset price of $7,208.43. Forty-five others reverted to the city.

There were a total of about 140 parcels on the list when the sale opened so that just 50 per cent have been auctioned. The sale proceeds every morning this week at 10 o'clock in the council chamber.

Bone In Throat Causes Rush And Trip To Court

Motorist Passed Standing Street Car to Speed Choking Daughter Home.

"Well, Your Honor, it was like this. My daughter had a bone caught in her throat—I could see it—but I didn't have anything with which to take it out. So I was rushing home to get something."

This is how a motorist in City Police Court this morning explained to Magistrate George Jay why he had passed a standing street car which was discharging passengers.

"She might have choked if I hadn't rushed home," the motorist continued. "But I did and I got it out all right."

The Magistrate accepted the explanation as sufficient excuse for the offence against the traffic by-law.

Gandhi Plans To Leave London For Home Nov. 29

States India Conference Doomed to Failure and He Will Voyage to Bombay

Decision Follows Resolution of India Nationalist Congress Committee

Associated Press

London, Nov. 9.—Mahatma Gandhi this evening told the Associated Press the India Round-Table Conference was doomed to failure and that he would sail for Bombay November 29.

"Only a miracle which we do not expect to happen can save the conference from failure," he said, "and therefore I have decided to abandon the European tour I intended to make and will sail for Bombay from Genoa on the twenty-ninth."

Mr. Gandhi's statement to-day followed the sending of a message to him yesterday by the working committee of the All-India National Congress. A Bombay dispatch yesterday said:

"Asserting the British Government had failed to grant its demands for independence, the Indian National Congress to-day cabled Mahatma Gandhi in London that his further attendance at the Round-Table Conference there was unnecessary and urged him to return to India at once."

"While leaving the final decision to Mr. Gandhi, the Congress working committee adopted a resolution saying 'the people of India should not allow themselves to be deflected from the right path, but should organize themselves and prepare for united effective action. Recent attempts by radicals on Congress British officials were condemned.'"

"Mr. Gandhi was asked to abandon his proposed tour of Europe and come home at the earliest moment on the condition that the British authorities were using oppressive measures against the peasants in Bengal, the Northwest Frontier Province, the United Provinces and other districts."

KING OPENS PARLIAMENT TO-MORROW

Speech From Throne Will Call For Free Hand For British Government

London, Nov. 9.—Premier MacDonald having made his important speech at the Lord Mayor's banquet this evening (heard by radio in Victoria), Great Britain turned to the next item in the political programme, the opening of Parliament to-morrow by King George.

To-morrow at noon the King and Queen will drive from Buckingham Palace to Westminster, where, in the House of Lords, His Majesty will read the speech from the throne. The speech is expected to be unusually brief.

There is little likelihood, it is conceded, the speech will go farther than outlining the idea of the free hand for the National Government which formed the basis of the Premier's appeal to the public during the recent election campaign.

SEALS HANDLED OVER

Ministers of the old and new National Government to-day transferred their seals of office. Four retiring members of the National Government—Lord Reading, former Secretary for Foreign Affairs, the Marquis of Crewe, former Secretary for War, Lord Amulree, former Secretary for Air, and Sir Austen Chamberlain, former First Lord of the Admiralty—were the first to receive by the King, who bade them good-bye. Later members of the new cabinet received their seals of office.

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—Premier Bennett, who has been indisposed, presided at a meeting of the cabinet to-day. The meeting was engaged in the clearing up of several matters, but there was no official announcement at its conclusion.

OFFICES TO BE REORGANIZED

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—Canadian Immigration offices in the British Isles are to be reorganized with a view to economy and greater efficiency, it was stated by Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Immigration, to-day. No details of the proposed changes were divulged by the minister as the plans had not been completed, but it was stated the reorganization might mean the closing of some of the offices and enlargement of others. Heretofore, the minister stated, the services in the British Isles had been "greatly overstuffed."

SITUATION SERIOUS

"The situation is undoubtedly very serious, but the general trend of opinion in China is that the dispute will be settled peacefully," Nanking is looking to Geneva to bring about a settlement that will preserve the rights of China.

China was more united at the present time than at any previous since the republic displaced the Manchu dynasty, according to Dr. Yen.

The Cantonese were in conference with the Nationalists at Shanghai when he left, with Wang Ching Wei representing Canton as chief delegate, and Li Shi Chen speaking for Nanking in the absence of Chiang Kai-shek, who makes periodical visits to Shanghai when the pressure of his duties permit him to get away from the Chinese capital.

CABINET CHANGES

In consequence of the conversations that are in progress at Shanghai it is probable that Canton will be given representation in the Chinese government, necessitating the reorganization of the Nanking cabinet, according to Dr. Yen.

Manchurian Trouble Curtails Relief Measures For Flood Sufferers in China

Dr. Hawking Yen, who has been appointed charge d'affaires at the Chinese Legation in Washington, D.C., pending the assumption of the office of minister by Dr. W. W. Yen, arrived in Victoria this morning on the C.P.R. liner Empress of Russia from Shanghai.

"China reposes complete confidence in the League of Nations to maintain peace in the Far East under the terms of the Versailles Peace Treaty and the Washington Conference," said Dr. Yen when reporters questioned him about the trouble in Manchuria.

The Chinese diplomat was eager for the latest news from Manchuria, particularly regarding the clash at the Nonni River Bridge and the factional encounter in Tientsin, of which he had heard the barest details by radio. He looked grave when the factional fights in Tientsin were mentioned, and said:

"All China is hoping that the Manchurian question will be settled peacefully and every effort is being directed to that end by the Nanking government."

CITY BEAUTIFICATION

"The special Victoria beautification committee was amalgamated with the general citizens' committee into what is now known as the Capital City Beautification Committee. Suggestions were called for from the public and a tremendous amount of work was done in formulating a definite programme of activity for the permanent beautification of the city and its adjacent districts. Representatives have been made to the City Council and will be made to the provincial government."

SILVER AT NEW HIGH FOR YEAR WITH RECORD TRADING

Canadian Press

New York, Nov. 9.—Another vigorous rise in the price of bar silver to-day carried the price to a new 1931 high at 35 1/2 cents an ounce.

Spot silver also was strong in London, where the spot silver quotation had registered a new high for the year. To-day's advance amounted to 1/2 of a cent an ounce.

Spot silver also was strong in London, where it recorded a new 1931 high at 21 1/8 pence. The rise in that market amounted to 1 1/8 pence.

Trading in silver futures again was active on the National Metal Exchange where silver was actively bought.

In the late trading silver soared three cents an ounce, the maximum limit of fluctuations on the National Metal Exchange. Trading was heavy and within forty-five minutes of the close sales amounted to 6,500,000 ounces, the largest amount for a full session since the exchange was established about three years ago.

Quarterly Report Presented at Chamber of Commerce Meeting To-day

Co-operation For Vancouver Island Keynote of Activities

The completion since the last quarterly meeting of the inter-switching facilities on the Industrial Reserve on which the Chamber of Commerce had bent its energies for several years, was noted in the quarterly report of the directors read by George I. Warren, managing secretary, at the membership meeting this afternoon.

The goodwill tour of Vancouver Island and the co-operation with Island cities in helping to rehabilitate the coal industry and various other matters taken up for the benefit of industry of Vancouver Island were noted in the report, which read as follows:

"Probably the most important undertakings which recently have been arranged were the goodwill visits which have been made to Salt Spring Island, up-Island points and to Vancouver. On each occasion a large representative delegation of our members has comprised the party. Conferences were held with members of the boards of trade of the various communities visited. Proposals for the general development of Vancouver Island were discussed, and our directors are satisfied that these visits have been instrumental in bringing about a better understanding between the residents of other communities and the members of our organization. A 'get-together' golf tournament at Vancouver, between members of the Vancouver Board of Trade and our Chamber, was a decided success, and it is our intention to have another day of this kind in this city and invite members of the Vancouver Board of Trade to visit us."

R.C.M.P. Man's Statements Published in Toronto Paper During Trial of Group

By Jack Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto, Nov. 9.—Orders of the Communist International at Moscow were not acted on by the Canadian Communist Party, according to Tom Ewen, who with eight other alleged Communists is on trial here on charges of being and acting as members of an unlawful association and with being parties to a seditious conspiracy. Even this forenoon resumed testimony which was not completed when court adjourned last Friday evening.

"The Moscow 'orders,' he said, did not affect the Canadian party. The International programme was simply a guide to action under certain conditions. It contained recommendations and suggestions, but did not flatly order the Canadian or any other party to act on certain lines.

A pamphlet written by 'Vassiliev' at Moscow and which gave instructions to parties to form 'proletarian self-defence' was not official, Ewen said. The instructions might be useful in some countries, but the Canadian party could ignore them completely if so desired. As a matter of fact, he testified, none of the recommendations had ever been acted on here."

DICK TELLS OF BOON TROUBLES IN VANCOUVER

M.P.P. Says Delay in Sale of Securities Lost Money For City

Acting Mayor Says Bonds Will Be Sold When Time Comes

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Nov. 9.—William Dick, M.P.P. for Vancouver, a Conservative, charged at a civic luncheon in Hotel Vancouver to-day that the City Hall management had lost for the City of Vancouver enough money to have bought a new city hall by failure to market its bonds in the spring. He charged that $4,000,000 of city bonds were now lying in the bank under discount, and that the money was spent and to-day the city could not sell its bonds. "That is false," replied Acting Mayor John Bennett, who was sitting at the head table. "All right," said Mr. Dick. "If it is false I challenge you to advertise your bonds for sale. You asked for bids and were offered a price of 84, or 16 per cent discount." Acting Mayor Bennett said the city could sell its bonds when the time came. Mr. Dick also charged the provincial government was in the same position, and that the Dominion Government, with $253,000,000 of bonds maturing in New York within the next thirteen months, was in no position to help out. "That is why unemployment money has been cut off," Mr. Dick declared.

OCTOGENARIAN EX-VICTORIAN DIES

Mrs. Mary J. Robinson Succumbs in Vancouver; In Incorporation Here in 1862

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Nov. 9.—British Columbia lost one of its pioneers yesterday in the death, after a short illness, of Mrs. Mary Jane Robinson, aged eighty. She arrived in Victoria with her parents in 1851 from Devon, England. Mrs. Robinson was married in Victoria for almost half a century. Mrs. Robinson remembered Victoria when only a few wooden huts erected by the Hudson's Bay Company comprised the settlement. She participated in the ceremonies when Fort Victoria was incorporated as a city in 1862.

Chang Hsueh Liang, the war lord of Manchuria, who has been forced out of his territory by the Japanese advance, is vice-commander of the Chinese army and second only to Marshal Chiang Kai-shek. In attempting to maintain his prestige in Manchuria, China has been forced to relax her effort in giving refuge to millions of Chinese refugees. He said the provinces chiefly affected by the flood are Hunan, Hubei, Hupeh, Hanhai, Kiangsu and Kiangsi. The mortality was heaviest in the districts of Hankow and north of Nanking. "It is a great national calamity," said a diplomat. "There has been nothing to equal it in the last sixty years."

was delayed one day in crossing Windy Creek. About eleven miles out from Squamish, a search party of a divide, the search party found in a prospector's cabin a note written on a page torn from Mrs. Warburton's diary. She said she was OK and had been delayed by the route she had used. She had used one of the firewood in the cabin. The note was dated October 22. The woman had left Squamish October 19.

Before leaving Squamish she had talked to Constable Gill and told him the route she intended to follow. She said at that time she would walk over the Indian River trail to Indian River on the North Arm.

Provincial police do not think she was carrying food, and as best they can learn her supplies would not have lasted more than ten days. About a day's march beyond the prospector's cabin the search party arrived at a second cabin, which had been burned down long ago. There officer Gill and his companion found traces of the woman hiker. They observed where she had pitched her small portable tent.

The men continued and half a day's tramp farther on traces of a woman's footprints in the snow were barely discernible. There was no other trace of the missing woman, in spite of careful watch for any signs by the searchers as they walked through to Indian River, where they arrived yesterday.

Sub-inspector John Shirras, Vancouver, stated that if Gill goes in again, he must take with him snowshoes, because snow has fallen heavily in the mountains during the last ten days. He does not believe Miss Warburton turned off the trail for Seymour Creek, because traces were found beyond the point of diversion. He is considering a further search of routes Miss Warburton might have followed if she had wandered off the main trail.

Miss Warburton did not have snowshoes. Constable Gill thinks the woman got off the trail and is lost.

NOVES REPLES TO CRITICISM

Answers Wilson MacDonald's Charge in "Stigma of Colonialism" With Letter

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Nov. 9.—Wilson MacDonald's claim that Old Country authors have nothing but contempt for Canadian literature has brought upon him the ire of Alfred Noyes, famous British poet. The Canadian poet made his declaration at the convention of the Canadian Authors' Association in Toronto last summer, his address, in which a personal charge against Noyes is contained, now appears in book form under the title, "The Stigma of Colonialism."

Following his personal attack on Mr. MacDonald's thesis on the convention floor, W. Dalton of this city wrote to Mr. Noyes suggesting a reply to the accusation. It came in the form of a lengthy letter last week.

"DESPICABLE LIE"
In part, the letter says:
"The reference to myself is absolutely untrue and his attempt to sow ill-feeling by suggesting that while I was anxious to impress upon American people that I had read their national poets, I treated Canadian literature with deliberate contempt, is a particularly despicable lie, for the following reasons:

"On my last voyage across the Atlantic, I went through the whole of Canada, from Quebec to Victoria, addressing a great many audiences, and in order to do this I set aside an invitation to lecture in the United States which would have been exceedingly profitable. I had received merely the material side of my lecture, and had not been traveling expenses from any of my lectures in Canada (the proceeds went entirely to the National Council of Education) while the officials of the council will confirm: while the offer that I had received from the United States would have benefited me to the extent of several thousand pounds."

"The whole spirit of my endeavor was exactly the opposite to that which Mr. Wilson MacDonald suggests, and was dictated by enthusiasm for Canada and the literary developments there. I had no conversation with Mr. MacDonald about Canadian or any other literature. One of his books was sent to me and, presumably, he was not enthusiastic about himself particularly he would not have told this lie about my attitude to Canadian literature in general."

"Mr. Wilson MacDonald is not the whole of Canadian literature. There are many Canadian authors whose work I have long admired, and whose personal friendship, in some cases, I have known. I am quite sure that if any other confirmation is needed that my whole attitude towards my fellow authors in Canada was and is directly the opposite of that attributed to me by Mr. MacDonald, I have long loved the work of Charles Roberts, Lampman, Bliss Carman, and Macdonald, and I have long loved the work of C. H. Ballantyne, 'Clockmaker' and 'Old Judge'—to mention only a few of my 'never-failing' friends in literature. It would be just as true to say that I have not been guilty of anything that has been produced in Canada. But I have noticed that authors (not in Canada) have been guilty of making their personal pique a ground for intentional conflicts. They say 'your praise or your life' and try to make it personal. I have been guilty of this. It is because of the extreme harm that may be done to literature as well as to good feeling by such mischievous and ungenerous attacks. I have written at such length to nail this particular lie down. 'I shall be most grateful to you if you will help me to administer this antidote by making this reply public.'

COURT ASKED FOR NEW TRIAL

R. C. Stewart, Sentenced in Victoria, Makes Plea to Appeal Court at Vancouver

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Nov. 9.—On the ground that one of the jurors who sat on his trial, had been convicted of an indictable offence, Ronald Cyril Cameron Stewart is seeking a new trial from the Court of Appeal.

Stewart was convicted at the recent Victoria assizes of inciting soldiers of the permanent militia at Esquimalt to mutiny, for which offence Mr. Justice Murphy imposed a sentence of two years' imprisonment.

The appellant is applying to have his appeal heard at Victoria in January. Instead of at the present sitting. His counsel is Gordon Grant.

A. M. Johnson, K.C., is counsel for the prosecution.

The alleged disqualification of one of the twelve jurors who tried him is, as alleged, that he was convicted seven years ago by Magistrate Jay of two indictable offences for which the juror did not obtain a free pardon.

Light Horse, was severely injured when the car he was driving when the Fraser Canyon Highway, which was covered with the first fall of snow, and plunged into the Hudson Bay Gulch near the golf course yesterday afternoon. GETS DAMAGES ON COPYRIGHT

F. Gribble, British Author, Wins on Appeal Against Winnipeg Free Press

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Nov. 9.—Judgment of Mr. Justice Gribble, British author, for damages against The Manitoba Free Press of Winnipeg for alleged infringement of copyright was reversed to-day by the Manitoba Court of Appeal. All four judges decided Gribble was entitled to damages.

The plaintiff, residing in England, was the author of an article originally published over his name in an English magazine in October, 1925.

The article was republished with the achievement of the author and credited to the London paper by The Ottawa Journal, and copied from that paper and published with the same acknowledgment in the Free Press. Mr. Gribble's permission was given by Gribble, some months ago, ased for damages, claiming infringement of copyright.

SHOULD INVESTIGATE
The Appeal Court found the newspaper, before it published an article, should have ascertained no copyright existed. If it did not do that the paper would have to take a chance of being sued for damages.

Mr. Justice Donovan, in the original trial, held The Free Press had acted innocently and was protected from suit under Section 21 of the Copyright Act. He held that the newspaper was not bound to ascertain no copyright existed. If it did not do that the paper would have to take a chance of being sued for damages.

The Court of Appeal, however, differed with the trial judge.

GANDHI PLANS TO LEAVE LONDON FOR HOME NOVEMBER 29

Mr. Gandhi's European trip was proposed to include the Scandinavian countries, Germany, Austria, Hungary, the Holy Land and Egypt. Mr. Gandhi represented to the Congress it would be very beneficial to the cause of India. He would have expounded the standpoint of the Congress in these countries.

IN A speech made at Cambridge, Mr. Gandhi said that in the event of the failure of the discussions of the Round-Table Conference the All-India National Congress would not resume the civil disobedience campaign immediately. It was in accordance with that view he contemplated the continued abstention from the use of force.

Mr. Gandhi has said repeatedly he was wasting his time in London because the conference was making no progress, but he promised Premier MacDonald to remain until his conclusion, expected about November 22.

Asked in Oxford yesterday whether he would renew the civil disobedience campaign he replied:

"I have shown no change of heart toward India then a fiery ordeal and more suffering lie ahead of us."

MANCHURIA GENERAL DECLARES WAR ON JAPAN

General Ma's troops, which, according to estimates here number some where between 8,000 and 13,000, were said to be using field artillery and machine guns. The Japanese forces at last reports were only a little in excess of 1,000.

The Nichi Nichi dispatch from Mukden said General Ma had urged the mobilization of the Chinese forces of Kirin province, adjacent to Meiliung-kang province, and their union with his army to fight Japan to the very last.

In the face of reports indicating Chinese troops were concentrating south of Angangchi, near last week's battleground, Japan decided to move more troops to that area. In the diplomatic field of the controversy, the government prepared a sharp answer to the latest League of Nations note.

MOVIE U.S.
Canadian Press
Washington, Nov. 9.—Another move in the Manchurian situation is being considered by the United States government.

Secretary of State Stimson conferred with President Hoover to-day and planned to do so again.

Indications were the action would consist of renewed representations to the Japanese and Chinese governments through United States diplomatic representatives.

The President and Mr. Stimson had before them reports of a clash in Tientsin, China, between the Japanese garrison and armed Chinese, and reports from the Chinese General Ma Chao-shan had declared war on Japan.

Secretary Stimson declined to say whether this government was considering increasing its armed forces in the Far East. He pointed out the United States had in Tientsin two battalions of infantry comprising about 700 men. There are marines at other points and the Asiatic fleet is nearby.

BULLETS FLY AND BOMBS BURST IN TIENTSIN RIOTS

troops had rained a bombardment of forty shells on the Chinese section of the city this morning, following a night of rioting as a result of which troops of foreign nations were called out.

Four Chinese were killed and ten wounded in the bombardment. The shelling was said to have followed a refusal of Gen. Wang Shu-chang, chairman of the Chinese provincial government, to accede to a demand that all Chinese troops be withdrawn a distance of 300 yards from the Japanese concession boundary.

The rioting yesterday evening took place near the entrance to the Chinese city from the Japanese concession. In refusing to comply with the Japanese demand to withdraw his troops, General Wang is said to have declared such a move was impossible as long as mobs of rioters from the concession were still attacking police.

"We should like to mention that it is with profound regret that we have to record the passing away of one of our popular members, the late J. S. H. JAPANESE SOLDIER KILLED

One Japanese soldier was killed while on patrol duty, he said. Another was badly wounded and a Japanese woman was wounded by stray bullets while she was entering the concession.

Chinese troops were requested to withdraw by 7 a.m., he said.

No news of the reported bombardment had been received by the legation up to noon to-day, but reliable reports from other sources said trench mortars had been used in the shelling.

FOREIGN TROOPS CALLED

Tientsin, Nov. 9.—Troops of several foreign countries were standing by here to-day and Chinese troops from Lanfang and other garrison centres were reported rushing to this city following riots yesterday evening between the Japanese concession and the Chinese city.

Tientsin itself is virtually isolated. Missionaries occupying the mission which stands half way between the Japanese barracks and the south city applied for an escort to enable them safely to evacuate their exposed position.

Chinese officials claimed to have uncovered a plot with the arrest of eight men in civilian clothes yesterday evening before the rioting began. The men, they said, were captured in the eastern suburbs and the arrests forced Chinese officials who immediately called out the troops, police and militia.

The eight arrested, they said, were affiliated with the Cu Man-futes, who have been holding nightly conferences at the home of Wu Kwang-shing, plotting the overthrow of Chang Hsueh-liang.

The rioters, they said, were all secreted inside the concession and directed their attack against the south gate, which they took at 1 a.m. The scattered firing during the night swelled Chinese night manoeuvres in the concession.

PANIC SPREADS

Shanghai, Nov. 9.—Rioting, described by Chinese as having been instigated under Japanese direction as a rebellion against the Chinese government, held the native city of Tientsin, North China, in a panicky grip early to-day, necessitating the calling out of foreign troops to protect the international sections of the city.

Chinese advisers said severe fighting had broken out yesterday and was continuing early to-day, resulting in many deaths. The fighting was between police and rioters.

The Chinese government. The rioters were under the instigation of "the rebel" (Chinese) General Shih Yu-shan, who under Japanese direction and support led an abortive rebellion against Chinese advisers asserted the rioters had been supplied with rifles and ammunition by Japanese within the Japanese concession."

"RELIEF CORPS"

Tokio, Nov. 9.—According to the Japanese War Office, the disturbances in Tientsin were said to be due to rioters calling themselves the National Relief Corps, a body opposed to the Manchurian government.

BODY FOUND ON RAILWAY TRACK

Vancouver, Nov. 9.—The body of a man believed to be Edward Barrett, address not known, was found lying on the Great Northern Railway tracks south of Jackson Avenue at 7 a.m. Sunday. Both legs had been severed at the knee and it is believed by police the man was run over by a freight train which left the False Creek yards at 6 a.m. Sunday for Everett, Washington.

The body was removed to the morgue after doctors at the General Hospital had pronounced the man dead. Coroner W. D. Brydson-Jack stated he would not set a time for the inquest until positive identification had been made. Police believe the man's name was Barrett as that name was found on an old fire license, issued at Penticton early this year, in a pocket of the clothing. The address given on the license was 716 or 916 Keefer Street.

REPORT ON U.S. NAVY UPHOLDS THE PRESIDENT

Committee Rules William H.
Gardiner's Attack on Hoover Unjustified

Findings on Investigation of Navy League Head's Statements Made Public

Washington, Nov. 9.—A verdict in favor of President Hoover has been given by the jury he appointed to weigh the truth of statements contained in William H. Gardiner's attack on the administration's naval policy. Fully supporting Mr. Hoover, the committee found the pamphlet issued by Mr. Gardiner, as president of the Navy League, charging the United States President with "abysmal ignorance" of naval affairs, contained "many inaccuracies, false assertions and erroneous conclusions."

Aroused by the Gardiner attack, Mr. Hoover had charged the Navy League head with uttering falsifications and a gesture of public retraction and an apology after the committee had completed its inquiry.

The group made its report on Saturday, laying on the President's desk a 10,000-word document accompanied by a lengthy letter of transmittal. SIX STATEMENTS

Six of Mr. Gardiner's statements were especially stressed in the letter as incorrect. These were:

1. That the President and Premier MacDonald of Great Britain had "admittedly" reached agreements never divulged in their entirety.

2. That the administration had refused to allow even an executive session of the Senate foreign relations committee to see the full record of negotiations preparatory to the London Naval Conference.

3. That Mr. Hoover in 1929 delayed the building of the first five of fifteen cruisers just ordered by Congress as a gesture preparatory to the naval conference not commensurately followed by other powers.

4. What Mr. Gardiner termed an obvious inference from a speech of Mr. B. Wilson, Minister to Switzerland, that Mr. Hoover under the one-year naval holiday just begun intends to forego treaty rights to the construction of 87,600 tons of naval vessels.

5. That the committee saw as an implication in Mr. Gardiner's statement that the Washington treaty established a regime of ten to six in all classes of naval vessels between the United States and Japan.

6. And what was regarded as an implication by Mr. Gardiner that the ratios established by the London treaty are effective prior to December 1, 1936.

Oliver Manning, sixty-five, and Norman Joffe, thirty-nine, both of Toronto, escaped with their lives, suffering from exposure.

PROVES B.C. COAL CHEAPEST, BEST

Analyses of Imported Fuels Presented By Provincial Committee

To push the use of British Columbia coal and restore its popularity, the British Columbia Coal Committee has issued a twelve-page pamphlet prepared by John D. Galloway, provincial mineralogist.

The bulletin stresses how the lower prices of British Columbia coals make it more profitable to use and of a higher relative heat value than imported coals from Alberta and from across the Atlantic.

Analyses are presented in detail of various coals through all the ranges of fuel from sub-bituminous to bituminous types, to prove that B.C. domestic coal has more British thermal units to the dollar value per ton than other coals.

Fuel oil is attacked on the grounds that it "cannot compare in heating results with British Columbia coal used in automatic stokers." Information is given on automatic stokers for B.C. coal and their use.

"British Columbia produces a coal for every purpose," said Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Mines, in appreciation of the pamphlet. "Coal is the safest and most efficient fuel, if used in the modern way. The coal committee, which was formed as an outgrowth of the provincial conference last year, and which represents producers, consumers and the provincial government, has as its object the furthering in every way of the use of British Columbia coal as against the imported fuel. A better knowledge by the public of the heat values and prices should cause a preference for the local product."

THE WRONG POLICY

IF THERE HAS BEEN A TENDENCY IN the United States in years gone by to discourage loud speaking about the country's difficulties, that can not be said to be the governing principle of the Washington government to-day. Well-known people, men and women, have been conscripted for service at the microphone, and in all their utterances, their appeals for aid for those unfortunate enough to be without employment, there is the plain confession by implication that the fiscal policy which the United States has followed in the last few years has failed.

As The Vancouver Daily Province aptly puts it: "The moral and the lesson of the hard times is that nationalistic policies are not enough. The deadlock in the world is a deadlock of international trade. The problems of the nations, which come home to their populations in unemployment and financial crises and the threat of collapse, are essentially international. They are war debts and reparations and dislocated credit systems and depreciated currencies and stagnation of trade. . . . Nationalism has not been enough."

We can turn back to the report of the Wiggins Committee, the body which met at Basle some time ago to deal with the subject of international credits, and of which Mr. Albert H. Wiggins, chairman of the board of governors of the Chase National Bank group, was the head. Two paragraphs from that document bear repeating:

We would point out that the case of Germany provides the most forcible illustration of the fact that in recent years the world has been endeavoring to pursue two contradictory policies, in permitting the development of an international financial system which involves the annual payment of large sums by debtor to creditor countries, while at the same time putting obstacles in the way of free movement of goods.

So long as these obstacles remain, such impoverishment of capital must necessarily throw the world's financial balance out of equilibrium. Financial remedies will be powerless to restore the world's economic prosperity until there is a radical change in this policy of obstruction, and international commerce—which depends on the programme of civilization—is allowed to resume its natural development.

There is a lesson for Canada in the present condition of the world and the causes which produced it. The high protection principle, which means obstacles "in the way of free movement of goods," has been tried and found faulty. This country is paying dearly for the tariff increases of recent months. The cost will pile up as long as the duties remain at their present height.

SCHOOL-ROOM MOVIES

EVER SINCE SHAKESPEARE MADE HIS famous remark about the unwilling school boy reluctantly trudging off to his lessons, it has been taken for granted that children, in the very nature of things, are bound to dislike going to school.

Improvements in methods of teaching within the last few decades have probably lessened this old antagonism of childhood toward its education. But the children have not yet been entirely converted. Many of them, even now, would rejoice to see the school house burn down just as their fathers before them would have rejoiced.

Once in a while, though, one gets a glimpse of future possibilities—a glimpse which brings conviction that schools eventually will be different. A long start has been made already. A great deal more undoubtedly will be accomplished during the next generation.

All of this meditation is provoked by a little catalogue recently issued, showing a long list of educational films devised for use in schools. The thing opens amazing vistas to the mind of one who got his "three R's" in the good old way.

Consider the possibilities of the school-room movie. What could not be done with it? Could any book or blackboard-talk hope to compete with a well-devised film?

Look back at your own school days. You studied, among other things, geography—for long months, poring over uninteresting books and emerging with only the haziest ideas, after all, of the world you live in.

Can you imagine getting geography through movies? Would not a couple of dozen selected films inform a child about this world in a way that books could never equal? Furthermore, the child would remember what he learned—and he would look forward to the next lesson.

Not all lessons could be taught that way, of course. Such bugbears of childhood as arithmetic, spelling and grammar can never be sugar-coated very much. But plenty of things could be taught through the films. A child could be informed about his world and the people who live in it, and the job could be done quickly and thoroughly.

The very smallness of the film catalogue mentioned above is impressive—because it shows that the surface has hardly been scratched. The movie can be one of the greatest allies the school teacher ever had. When it finally has become used to its fullest potentialities it will be safe to assume that school children will not be half as eager for vacation time.

A POOR ARGUMENT

NO LONGER IS THERE ANY SECRET why the Canadian dollar is not worth quite as much in New York these days as it was a few weeks ago. The Toronto Telegram has let the cat out of the bag. It announces that the adverse trade balance during the King administration is at the bottom of the whole business. But now the new government has narrowed the gulf between imports from the United States and exports to that country, all will very soon be well.

It was not to be supposed, of course, that this drawing of the long bow by The Telegram would go unobserved. The Manitoba Free Press gently chides its Toronto contemporary by merely stating a fact with which every Canadian is familiar—that our dollar was worth one hundred United States cents, and, at times, a little more, when the trade exchange between the two countries was less restricted than it is now. It began to depreciate as the barriers to the interchange of goods were multiplied by the present government at Ottawa. Its decline now is costing Canada quite a lot, but Mr. Bennett, not Mr. King, happens to be in power at Ottawa.

SENATOR BORAH AND WAR DEBTS

ONE OF THE MOST INTERESTING FEATURES of recent discussions of inter-governmental debts and reparations is the attitude Senator Borah has adopted. The following is the verbatim account of an interview with the Senator in a well-known United States daily:

Reporter—Would you advocate an absolute cancellation of debts and reparations?

Mr. Borah—I would, yes.

Reporter—Would you consider a special treatment for the unconditional annuities under the Young Plan?

Mr. Borah—There might be some argument for that, but I have in mind cancellation of reparations in their entirety, and cancellation of international debts in their entirety.

Reporter—That would be the solution you would advocate?

Mr. Borah—I am not advocating it. I simply say that, in my opinion, those things stand in the way of economic recovery, and that, if reparations are cancelled, I would be perfectly willing, in my humble capacity, to advocate the cancellation of our debts.

It is not difficult to be wise after the event. But the fact remains that if at the time of the publication of the famous Balfour note nearly ten years ago, cancellation of all debts had taken place, the world might have saved itself a great deal of the economic trouble through which it has been passing in recent years. In one sense Great Britain would have been out of pocket, since, according to Sir Robert Horne, she receives from debtors on the continent of Europe more than she pays to the United States, but this would have been offset by the general improvement of the international situation which would have followed cancellation.

A NEW TREATY WANTED

WHEN THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association met in Montreal the other day it expressed the hope that a trade pact similar to that in effect between Canada and Australia would be arranged between this country and New Zealand. The hope was inspired by the fact that if such an agreement could be reached, new markets would be opened up and a demand for more labor in Canada would result.

It is to be hoped the Manufacturers' Association will not let this subject drop with the mere expression of a hope. It will serve its own members and the country well by pressing its wishes on the Dominion government, supplementing them with the request that a Canadian envoy be sent to New Zealand as quickly as possible. We need all the business we can get; and what has happened to our trade with New Zealand is reflected in a few comparative figures:

Fiscal year ending with March 31, 1930, total trade: $35,449,207.
 Fiscal year ending with March 31, 1931, total trade: $19,350,727.
 Twelve months ending with August 31, 1931, total trade: $10,351,722.

It will be observed from the figures we have quoted that the effect of the tariff war in which Canada and New Zealand have indulged has been the reduction of a trading exchange of approximately $36,000,000 to about $10,000,000. This explains the reason why a new treaty should be negotiated without delay.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THE LESSON OF THE POUND
 The Chicago Tribune

"Solid as the pound" and "strong as the Bank of England" were common phrases only a few years ago. Strong as our financial position appears to be to-day it is no stronger than was the British position when those phrases were current. We can go the same way and we will go the same way unless we keep our government expenditures within reason.

SCHOONER RACING
 The Halifax Herald

About schooner racing there is a wholesome, a big, that is the sea and of the sea. Fishermen of this type are deep-water fishermen, the men who go to the Banks, and to whom their vessels are home for many months of every year. Theirs is a hard and hazardous calling, at which they spare nothing, least of all themselves. While folks ashore are comfortably housed, dry and warm, surrounded by all the protective safeguards of a modern civilization, these men are out there upon great waters amid which their craft seem little boats. They never know what the Fates may send, but they go out to meet it with cheerfulness and fortitude. This is what makes them big and broad and courageous. And it is their code, if it is anybody's code, that

"The Game is more than the player of the Game. And the Ship is more than the Crew."

RELIEF WORKS REDUCED
 The Manitoba Free Press

The Dominion government has refused approval of some of the proposed relief works for Manitoba, including the bathing beach for Assiniboine Park in Winnipeg. If the latter is not considered a suitable work for unemployment relief, the Dominion will certainly have to approve of other works if there is to be a displacement of the dole system in any serious degree in this city.

In the dole to be the principal means of unemployment relief in Winnipeg this winter, with the probability of a great deal of unrest, or is work to be provided on a much larger scale on useful public improvements? That is the policy that has been repeatedly declared by members of the Dominion Government. Whether it will be carried out, or not, will depend on the Dominion, which has the financial resources which the city and province lack.

Loose Ends

Concerning bad cooking—silly ideas from France—and some good ones—some notions from Japan—and some good work in Victoria.

By H. R. W.

IN FRANCE recently the French Touring Club conducted a competition among all the restaurants of the province to see which could provide the best meal for tourists at a reasonable price. The purpose of the contest was to improve the quality of French hotel meals, which already was extremely high, and thus to increase the attractiveness of France to the foreign tourist. The idea is sound and I wish someone would do something about it in British Columbia. If there is anything important in attracting tourists it is food. Drink, it is true, has been useful in building the tourist business, but it is not the tourist who comes here to get drunk who makes our tourist business so valuable. He does not stay long for it requires little time to get drunk; whereas the tourist who stays sober is very much concerned about his food. A man may stop getting drunk, but he cannot stop eating. A tourist touring about the country all day has only three real events to look forward to, his breakfast, his lunch and his dinner. He will go where he knows he will be well fed.

AND IT is appalling to realize that there are many places in British Columbia where you cannot get a decent meal no matter how wealthy you may be. I have frequently driven an extra hundred miles in a day so as to get a reasonable dinner, and there are places on the Island and the Mainland, which shall be nameless and thank God, that we need not mention. I have come to feel that a good many years of experience, the places where you can feed not lavishly, not in great style, but in comfort. Also, they are not many, and most of them are unknown to the average traveler. If he is an American, he must imagine, too yellow, that we feed as badly here as he does at home. The obvious thing to do is to prove to him that we feed better. If he is convinced of that, he will certainly come again.

THE FRENCH Congress of Hygiene, lately composed of experts, has lately done what you would expect from a body so composed. It has talked solemn and expert boloney, not half so promising as the French culinary competition. Looking forward to the next year, the congress drafted a scheme for the French Government which called for the training of all citizens in the wearing of gas masks, for the establishment of gasproof refuges in every city, for the ventilation of basements by long chimneys, opening above the range of gas. But the last project of the congress is quite sublime. It proposes that outside of each community there should be safety zones, protected by international agreement, where no gas would be used by the enemy. It does not seem to occur to the congress and to a lot of other people that if the nations cannot agree to stop using gas, they will never stop gassing safety zones and every other area where there is anyone to gas. Whereas, if they agree to stop gassing any particular place there is no reason why they cannot agree to stop gassing every place and to stop fighting altogether. One thing is as easy and as likely as the other.

THE EXPERTS' programme of preparing the civilian population with gas masks instead of stocking war reminds me of George Paddy's method of meeting the problem of Mrs. Olumby's chickens. Mrs. Olumby's chickens, you know, continually uproot Mr. Paddy's vegetables. So Mr. Paddy bury carefully piles all the stones which he gets out of his vegetable garden in a neat heap. Whenever one of Mrs. Olumby's chickens appears, he always has a handy weapon to throw at it. Somehow it never occurs to Mr. Paddy that he would save a lot of trouble and much agony of spirit if the end of it would fence his vegetable garden and keep the chickens out.

WHEN YOU are inclined to wonder why Chinese and Japanese are shooting one another over in Manchuria you may be interested to note what has been said recently by Yukio Ozaki, a distinguished Japanese statesman. Mr. Ozaki has pointed out in his article in The New York Times that the Orient did not originate the modern warfare which it now practices. These productive arts were taught to it by Western nations. It is merely following our example. The Orient as a whole is probably at least a century behind us in the progress of Western civilization.

When we were at the same stage a hundred years ago we were doing precisely what they are doing in the Orient now. We were taking all other people's property and taking it away from them. Most of the great empires of the West were built, up in that fashion. We have learned that this kind of thing does not pay, but we cannot expect everyone to know as much as we do without our experience. We have taught the Orient how to fight according to the most advanced methods of civilization. It is going to be harder to teach it not to fight, particularly when we have heardly learned ourselves.

THE AMATEUR theatrical season, I am glad to report, has got off to a splendid start here. The first play of the Mimes and Masques' Guild, recounting some of the amorous adventures of the unique Samuel Pepys, was well worth seeing. The play itself, on the style of one of those lusty Restoration pieces by Wycherley and Congreve, was extremely amusing and not too prudish, like the usual amateur production, to be boring to persons of ordinary respectability. I mean, there were some robust but harmless jests, such as the sad tale of a London alderman who had succumbed after an operation for gall stones and had thus "died giving birth to his own tombstone."

THE PLAY was well produced, too, with faultless stage settings and

WASTE!

To the Editor—May I write your paper as a small wage-earning taxpayer who, like many others in our city, have by industry and thrift got a home together for myself and family. I now realize this home is going to be risked or wiped out unless something is done to check this useless expenditure of money on unemployed. I hear the city has spent over $120,000 on unemployment; who can show any definite advantage or improvement to the city for this money? I also hear the Macdonald playing field work in James Bay was estimated by the City Engineer to cost $4,000, but up till now over $20,000 has been spent and from the looks of things it is as far off completion as ever. Go and look at the unemployed on this ground; as far as work is concerned it is more like a carnival, and one comes away with the answer as to why they have found themselves on the unemployed list. No man can succeed without work, energy and determination. There must be a real hard task set before them; therefore, why should we small taxpayers lose our property in order to keep men on a charity basis who do not indicate by their industry they appreciate what is being done for them? Had the money been well spent on something which would have been of real permanent value to the city, like Beacon Hill Park or Kirk's golf course, no one could complain, as these improvements would have added to the value of Victoria property. Surely now is the time to cut a halt and go on the business on practical common-sense lines.

Foreign Communists may call us small home owners "bourgeoisie," who are doomed to be wiped out, but we are not in Russia yet! And a long way from it! Would it not be cheaper to buy one-way tickets to Moscow for these people and let them get a taste of the real stuff rather than present around here harassing old-time citizens who have made good by thrift and industry?

There are many who feel as I do about this, and it is nearly time to talk out loud.

SMALL HOME OWNER.

"IT'S A LONG, LONG WAY"

To the Editor—Miss MacPhail, M.P., seems to have fallen heir to the mantle of the Buddhist Emperor Asoka (B.C. 250) in her advocacy of world peace, but most of her statements in this cause are conveyed by your report of her vigorous address, will not bear analysis, however humorous her asides may be.

In the first place Germany has never been disarmed; comparatively speaking with the advance of modern science, she is just as capable of committing mischief in Europe as in 1918. In the second place the United States of America did not sign the Treaty of Versailles in 1919, and Senator Borah would be better to consider the morality of his own Congressional ratification which spends $400,000,000 in the enforcement of prohibition, but only some $8,000,000 on the relief of 5,000,000 unemployed Americans, and which further spends more money on armaments than the British empire, wherein we could easily place the United States of America, the United States of Brazil, and a few other United States.

If Miss MacPhail will read the memoirs of the late George Clemenceau she will find that the British government, by a unanimous parliamentary vote, agreed to help France in the event of renewed aggression by Germany. But when this proposed tripartite agreement was presented to the United States of America the American Congress would have nothing to do with it—any more than with the Treaty of Versailles and the League of Nations. On the assumption that the United States would agree to this tripartite agreement Marshal Foch was made to abandon any notion of a long holding fast to the bridge-head of the Rhine.

The Locarno pact and the various pious announcements have resulted in Germany becoming a hotbed of Deutschland über Alles. In your Sunday supplement is a map of the proposed German settlement of the boundaries of the Third Republic as conceived by a strong political party. How would Miss MacPhail feel if the Democratic Party in the United States was to become a hotbed of a future Canada? However, the French nation can defend itself, and so long as no other guarantees for peace exist than a League of Nations or an American Congress, the inhabitants of France or Japan are not likely to reduce their armaments below their present level. Further, the British government is perfectly well aware that its island security is conditional on the maintenance of French military forces.

The American or Anglo-Saxon—Miss MacPhail terms it, though there are a few Latins in Quebec—point of view that disarmament should come before security results from a lack of knowledge of the different races, languages and ideas which prevail throughout the world. The United States of America has so far shown no lead in this matter of disarmament in accordance with his "Anglo-Saxon" mysticism. IMPETUS GIVEN CHINA TRADE

Appreciation of Chinese Tael Gives Greater Buying Power, Says Shanghai Broker

Britain's suspension of the gold standard and appreciation of Chinese currency by reason of the fall in the pound, will give greater impetus to British trading with China, it was stated by H. O. White, exchange broker of Shanghai, here on Saturday on his way from London to the Orient. He has been at the Empress Hotel for several days and is sailing this evening with Mrs. White by the Empress of Canada for China.

When Mr. White left China early in the summer for Europe, the tael, compared with British money, was valued at one shilling and two and one-half pence, while at the present time it had risen to two shillings. As the result, China has greater buying power, he said, and is in a position to import more manufactured goods from Great Britain.

Mr. White takes the view that silver has been too low for a long time. In commenting upon the financial outlook when he passed through Canada in June, he expressed the opinion that action should be taken by the powers for the greater protection of silver.

Exports have been curtailed as a result of the dispute between Japan and China over the Manchurian incident, but the chief cause of the rise in silver has been credited to the fall of the pound.

Silver is rising steadily, and there seems to be every prospect of its continuing to do so while Britain is off the gold standard. It was assured stimulus to British trade and Britain is already feeling the effects of a greater volume of business with the Orient.

Mr. White was born in Shanghai, his father having gone out to China from Britain in 1858.

SAANICH CLUB WILL PRESENT PLAY SHORTLY

Sidney, Nov. 9.—At the November meeting of the North Saanich Little Theatre Association several new members were welcomed and a number of old members were in attendance.

It was decided that the association should have stationery with printed letterhead and the motto, "The Play's the Thing."

As the aim of the association is to foster all branches of dramatic art, it was suggested that any members who have literary leanings should try their hand at dramatizing stories. These dramatizations could be read at the meetings, and should any be considered suitable, they could be staged.

The third play was decided upon and the cast chosen, but the stage manager, Mrs. Lesse Burns, has been indisposed and rehearsals have had to be dropped. A performance will not be given in November, but will be postponed till after Christmas.

Houses As Prizes For Big Families

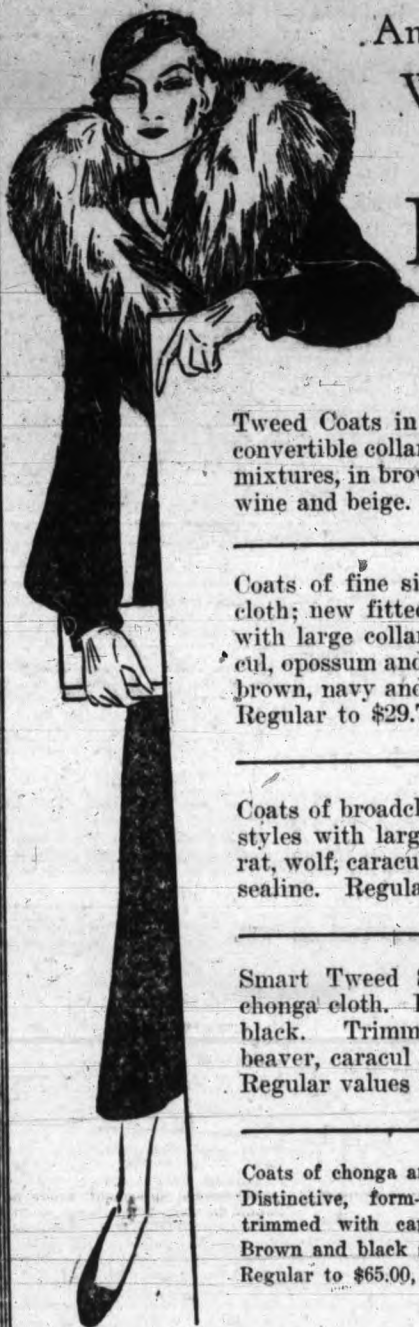

Rome, Nov. 9.—Each of the ten families in Italy with the largest number of children will be given a five-room bungalow by the Governor of Rome, beginning on Christmas, 1932, it has been announced.

Similar prizes will be given each year for five years. A proviso that the houses cannot be sold, leased or mortgaged within thirty years will be attached, however.

TO VISIT MEXICO

Mexico City, Nov. 9.—Priests bringing tourist parties to Mexico for the forthcoming four hundredth anniversary of the vision of the Virgin of Guadalupe, December 12, will have no trouble entering Mexico if they enter simply as tourists and comply with the immigration laws, Manuel C. Teller, Secretary of the Interior, has announced. Some difficulty about this had been expected, because of Mexico's religious laws forbidding foreign priests.

NIZAM PAYS HEAVILY FOR SONS' BRIDES

Indian Prince Gives $200,000 and $1,000,000 in Jewels to Ex-Sultan

Double Wedding, With Much Splendor, Arranged For Thursday

Nice, France, Nov. 9.—The Nizam of Hyderabad, reputed to be the richest man in the world, to-day gave $200,000 in cash and $1,000,000 worth of jewels to Prince Abdul Medjid Effendi, former Sultan of Turkey and supreme spiritual ruler of 300,000,000 Mohammedans, in return for the marriage of the former Sultan's daughter and niece to the Nizam's two sons.

At the same time the ruler of Hyderabad, whose wealth is estimated at more than $2,000,000,000, increased the former Sultan's living allowance to $2,000 a month. Ever since Medjid was exiled from Turkey by Mustafa Kemal seven years ago the Nizam has been paying $1,500 a month to the wearer of Mohammed's mantle.

DOUBLE WEDDING
A double wedding uniting Prince Azam Jah, heir to the Hyderabad throne, with the eighteen-year-old Princess Dural Shivar, only daughter of the former Sultan, and the Nizam's younger son with Princess Nilufar, sixteen-year-old niece of the former Sultan, will be celebrated with Oriental splendor here on Thursday.

The event takes an added interest inasmuch as the ceremony will be performed on the Nizam's birthday by the former Sultan himself in his capacity as Caliph of all the Muslims. It will be the first time he ever officiated at such a ceremony.

Princess Dural Shivar, who has been living on the charity of friends ever since her father lost the Turkish throne, becomes potentially the richest girl in the world by this marriage, for her time is destined to inherit his father's colossal wealth, estimated to exceed the combined fortunes of the Rockefellers, the Fords and the Morgans.

In India the Nizam has diamonds by the bushel, it is said, and incalculable quantities of gold, gems and other property piled up by mogul emperors through the centuries.

W.I. DISTRICT BOARD MEETS

A meeting of the Vancouver Island South District Women's Institute was held on Saturday afternoon in Victoria W.I. rooms, by courtesy of that institute. In accordance with a motion passed at a previous meeting, a motion was passed that each institute of the north and south districts will be asked for a contribution of $1.50 to erect a tablet over the first unit of the solarium, commemorating the work of Women's Institutes in initiating the building of the solarium.

The treasurer's report showed a balance on hand of $11.03, and the board decided to ask each institute for ten cents per capita again this year. Questionnaires will be sent out in their old form in January so that convenors may commence their work and the revised forms will be sent later in the year.

Nuptials of Rev. Alan Gardiner and Miss Louise McMillan of Ontario Solemnized

SPANISH WIVES SEEK DIVORCE

New Law Leads to Many Suits For Severance of Marital Bonds

Madrid, Nov. 9.—Offices of Madrid's three women lawyers are being deluged with hundreds of requests from Spanish women who want divorces under the new constitutional provision which legalizes the severing of marital bonds in Spain for the first time.

Two of the feminine barristers, Victoria Kent and Clara Campoamor, are members of the Spanish National Assembly. The third is Conchita Pena. The former two, neither of whom is married, played prominent roles in the debates leading to the adoption of the divorce clause.

As soon as the clause passed, thousands of women besieged lawyers' offices throughout the country, but were told they would have to wait until legislative acts are adopted putting the constitutional clause into effect. The constitutional article provides that a divorce may be secured by either husband or wife "for just cause." The legislative acts, still to come, will define what constitutes "just cause."

The home of Mrs. and Mrs. George Macleay, 1220 Oak Street, was the scene of a pretty house wedding on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when Rev. W. G. Wilson, pastor of First United Church, solemnized the marriage of Miss Mary Isabella (Mollie) Kiek and Mr. John Craig, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Craig, 1270 Old Esquimalt Road, in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends. During the ceremony the bride and groom stood between tall baskets of yellow and pink chrysanthemums, and prior to the entrance of the bride, Miss Donna Rogers played the wedding march, followed by "I Love You Truly." The bride, who was given in marriage by Mrs. M. E. Bogart, with whom she has made her home for many years, looked charming in an ensemble of brown velvet with a corsage of pink and yellow roses, and was attended by Miss M. E. Rogers in a frock of flowered voile and wearing a corsage of roses. Mr. John Salisbury attended the groom. The refreshment table was centred with the two-tiered bride cake.

After a wedding tour motoring up the island, Mr. and Mrs. Craig will make their home at 15 Boyd Street. The lovely presents included a silver cake dish from the staff of the hardware department of David Spencer's Limited. The bride left on her honeymoon in a handsome coat of brown Russian quinsus and a smart brown hat with an orange plume.

RHEUMATISM MADE HER TREMBLE AS IF SHE HAD ST. VITUS' DANCE

Windsor, Ont., woman and her husband recommend T-R-C's to all who suffer from pains and aches

"In 1920," writes Mrs. Frank Say, "I had a terrible attack of Rheumatism. So bad that I could scarcely bear to be touched. My feet trembled as though I had St. Vitus' Dance. This attack lasted nearly five months before I heard of Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules."

And how do you suppose Mrs. Say heard about T-R-C's? She learned of them from Mr. Harry Judah of Chatham, who by using T-R-C's had conquered a very severe attack of Lumbago (Lame Back). Mrs. Say tells how Mr. Judah recommended T-R-C's to her, and then goes on:

"I took seven boxes of T-R-C's and they got me out of bed. I use them also for bad headaches and know nothing else as good."

Deep-rooted, stubborn cases of Rheumatism require patient and correct use of T-R-C's for a reasonable length of time. But you are sure of relief if you persist with T-R-C's. Repeatedly they have given safe, speedy relief from Acute Rheumatic suffering; also from Sciatica, (stabbing pain in hip and thigh), Neuritis, Neuralgia and Lumbago (Lame Back). No harmful or habit-forming drugs.

CHINESE WOMAN
REVOLUTIONARY
MAKES APPEAL

Vancouver Orientals Hear
Mrs. Wong Hing in Em-
passioned Appeal

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Nov. 9.—"Long Live the Chinese Republic" re-echoed to the cheers of thousands of Chinese who gathered Sunday afternoon at a mass meeting in the Chinese Theatre here under the auspices of the Vancouver Chinese Patriotic Association to hear an address by Mrs. Wong Hing, wife of the famous revolutionary leader of 1912, who met a tragic death some years ago.

Mrs. Hing, who is known as the Lydia Pankhurst of China and who arrived here recently from the United States, roused keen interest when she related how Chinese people in different cities of the United States had reached some hundreds of thousands of dollars for the purpose of training aviators and purchasing machines for use in China should serious war develop. According to Mrs. Hing, five Chinese women and twenty-five men are already in training.

The aviation corporation had been formed, according to the speaker, for the purpose of training women and men in the art of flying. Five women and over twenty men had already enlisted for tuition and it was the intention of the corporation to purchase and engage the services of the best instructors available. The Chinese flying corps would be ready, she told the audience, to participate in war if need be, or to be established as a commercial unit.

APPEAL TO WOMEN

Urging the Chinese women of Vancouver to train their children to loyalty for the Chinese republic and greater respect for the equal status of Chinese women, Mrs. Hing said (in effect): "Throw down the yoke of bondage and arise to take your rightful place. We women have done far more for the republic of China than the men. Give of your money; sacrifice until death both for the expulsion of Japanese marauders and the establishment of a united republic and the emancipation of our womanhood."

Mrs. Hing is visiting Vancouver in the course of an itinerary covering the North American continent, sponsored for the purpose of raising funds for propaganda and developing an aviation corps and arousing loyalty among all Chinese people for the Chinese republic.

URGES JAPANESE BOYCOTT

Mrs. K. P. Louie, who also spoke, urged local Chinese women to educate their children to loyalty for the republic of China, and Mrs. T. C. Chin, chairman of the publicity of the women's section of the Patriotic Association, urged all mothers to train their children to boycott all Japanese goods. In the course of her remarks it was pointed out that through the local boycott against Japanese, purchases exceeding $300 a day of such articles as wood, fish and gasoline, had been withdrawn from local Japanese merchants.

T. Lee also delivered a stirring address, calling for strict adherence to the boycott policy. Rev. Y. Quan, chairman of the meeting, who is also chairman of the publicity committee of the local Chinese Patriotic Association, reviewed the Manchurian situation and concurred with emphasis upon the remarks of Mrs. Hing.

In bringing the meeting to a close, Rev. Quan led the crowd in singing the republican national anthem, the tune of which could be mistaken for "God Save the King," and concluded by pointing to the flag of the Chinese republic, the only flag in evidence, and joining the thousands present in cheering "Long Live the Republic of China."

Your Baby
and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

ESTABLISH REGULAR HABITS FROM DAY OF BIRTH

The pattern of a baby's life is capable of being set the first six weeks. The regular schedule, instituted in this period, will be continued practically throughout the first year. Of course, there will be irregularities while the routine is being established. But, if we want the baby to wake for his meals, fall asleep, cry to be bathed at regular and undeviating hours, we must begin to establish those habits from the second or third day after birth.

Naturally, then, we must wake the baby at those regular hours until he is habituated to waking, as she will be very shortly.

IS ROUTINE NECESSARY?

The various problems facing a young and inexperienced mother are beginning to trouble Mrs. O. N. P. She writes, "I always read your column and enjoy it very much. I want to know if it is correct to put a baby on a schedule the moment he is born? Should there be certain hours for bathing and feeding? How often should a baby be fed? Should he have a separate bed, at first? My insurance furnishes a nursing service. Shall I have the nurse in daily, or do I need a nurse? I will appreciate your advice very much."

ESTABLISHING SCHEDULE

The nursing baby is put to the breast every six hours for the first two days. There is no true milk at this time, but a laxative, nutritious secretion from the breasts, called colostrum. The regular stimulation of nursing encourages the breasts to begin to functioning, usually about the third day. From then on baby is fed regularly every four hours, preferably on this schedule: 8-10-2-6 and 10 p.m. and 2 a.m.

The nicest time for baby's daily bath is at 9:30 a.m. Then he is nursed at 10 a.m. and will take his long morning nap.

Baby should sleep alone from the day of birth. A large clothes-basket makes a convenient and economical first bed. It should be made comfortable with a soft mattress fitted to it, or a large downy pillow. An oil cloth or rubber pad, covered with a washable, felted cloth and a small sheet, prevents the mattress or pillow from becoming wet. Baby may be covered snugly with his own soft, warm blanket and comfort and will sleep undisturbed by the rollings or tossings of an adult.

et and comfort and will sleep undisturbed by the rollings or tossings of an adult.

NURSE ESSENTIAL

The requirements for the first wardrobe, as well as the nursery outfit, are detailed in the leaflet called "Information for Prospective Mothers." The proper routine is suggested in the leaflet, "The First Six Weeks," and the introduction of foods is discussed in the leaflet, "Feeding from Two to Twelve Months." These three may be accommodated in the self-addressed, stamped envelope which should accompany your request for them.

Assure yourself that the nursing service is furnished for new mothers. Ask your insurance company about this. I consider it absolutely essential that a mother have nursing care right in the home for at least four days and preferably ten days to two weeks. If you cannot manage this, why not consider going to a hospital? The proper care at that time prevents so many complications which might cause a mother future discomfort or ill health from the second or third day after birth.

Enjoyable to Infant."

CREOMULSION FOR THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Gems of Peril
by MAZEL ROSS HAILEY

"Seems to be" was all she could say. Now, what was he doing that for? Was it possible that he, himself—no, he couldn't have had anything but the best of motives in mind, or he would not have given Dirk his revolver.

Nassau Street was dark and its narrowness seemed to close in on Mary like the walls of a prison as they came to a stop before the small office building in which three generations of Rythers had their offices.

"Cover that up," Dirk told her curtly, as he turned the key in the switch and locked the car. Holding the collar of her coat tightly across her throat with both hands, she got out and followed him into the building.

The lobby was dark except for a dim light way at the back, which proved to be a watch-light kept burning for safeguard in a little hole-in-the-wall jewelry shop opening off the lobby. By its pale and ghostly radiance they found their way up the stairs—the elevator was a black, empty cavern which Mary hurried past with averted eyes.

Steps, steps, steps—arm in arm they went up, up, up. Mary's fingers fairly pinched Dirk's arm, so tense was their pressure. The stair-well was pitch black, but each landing place was faintly lightened from without by a tall, narrow window. On one of these Dirk bent his head and kissed her.

"Glad!" she asked. She could see well enough by this time to see that he was smiling fondly. She squeezed his arm tighter. "Awfully," she said. They did not seem to be in a hurry to go on. He held her against him for a breathless minute or two, and whispered, "It's been a long time." That was one of their own particular jokes, sometimes they even said it between kisses, and it seemed terribly funny. It didn't seem funny now, for it had been a long time... since last night, in fact. Two o'clock this morning, rather. Arms about each other, they went upstairs.

The blaze of light that followed when Dirk had opened the office door and punched the button was blinding. Mary threw up her hands to protect her eyes from it. Dirk went straight to the safe and began twirling the knob. Mary unfastened the ruby necklace, held it for a last admiring glance, and put it into the safe leather bag he held out for it. He laid it away inside, shut the door and spun the knob.

"Phew!" he said, getting up and dusting off his hands. "Thank God that's done!" He made a pretence of mopping his forehead with a handkerchief. "Five more minutes with that thing on my mind, and I'd have buckled under the strain." Mary lifted her eyebrows. "What? Surely you don't believe in such nonsense as this?"

Dirk was about to reply, when the very windows reverberated with the force of a crash in the street outside. Fearing only long enough to pick up the gun, Bowen had given him. Dirk rushed to one of the windows which faced Nassau Street, lifted it and looked out.

CHAPTER XXI

"What is it? What is it?" Mary whispered, trying vainly to see into the street from the other side of the window. Her view was cut off by a cornice. Dirk was leaning far out to get a clear view of what happened. He waved one hand as a signal to keep quiet. To the waiting girl the suspense was agonizing. Angry voices thrusted up and various bumps and thuds, as if of a weary car settling to rest.

He pulled his head in and shut the window quietly before speaking. "Just that blasted idiot, Bowen, and his rattletrap," he said disgustedly.

But there were explanations to be given the big, breathless policeman first.

"What were you tryin' to do, turn around in the middle of the block?" he accused, after inspecting the position of the wrecked car. Bowen took his abuse without a word of self defence. Mary burned with indignation but Bowen only listened with what she could have sworn was a self-satisfied smile on his face.

"Yep, you're right, officer. All my fault," he kept repeating. "Anybody see the number of that car?" The policeman asked loudly. The curious crowd began to babble all together, but nobody could give a connected story. "It was 3N and some-thing—'Saw it was 3N'." The policeman closed his book in disgust. "On yer way, all of yer!" He swung his stick menacingly.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Ginger Pop

by HOWARD E. GARIS

"Will you please hand me a glass, Nurse Jane?" asked Uncle Wiggily as he hopped out into the kitchen of his hollow stump bungalow one morning. "What kind of a glass do you want?" asked Mrs. Wuzzy, who was giving the breakfast dishes their morning bath. "Just an empty glass so I may get a drink of water," answered the rabbit gentleman. "I am very thirsty."

There was a loud pop

"Thank you, but I am not so much cold as I am thirsty," said Mr. Longears. "No I think cold water will be best for me. I want a cold drink." "How would you like a cold drink that would also make you warm so you wouldn't mind the cold weather?" asked Nurse Jane, who was carefully wiping the face of a dinner plate to make it dry. "How can I have a cold drink that will make me warm?" Mr. Longears asked.

"Try some of my jolly ginger pop!" said Nurse Jane, just as if she were advertising in the newspapers. "Well," chuckled Uncle Wiggily, also giving a jolly laugh. "I should very much like to try your ginger pop, but where is it?" "I'll make you some as soon as I finish drying the dishes," answered Nurse Jane.

In a little while she took some sugar and water and ginger and a few other things, mixed them in a bowl, and then she poured the drink into a bottle, corking it up. Then, tying the bottle on the end of her tail, Nurse Jane frisked her tail about faster even than a puppy dog could have done, and Uncle Wiggily asked:

"That are you doing?" "I'm shaking up the ginger so it will pop," answered Nurse Jane. "Surely enough, when she took the bottle off her tail, and held it up for Uncle Wiggily to see, all of a sudden there was a loud pop like a little gun and out flew the cork, almost hitting Uncle Wiggily on the end of his pink nose."

"My goodness! What made it pop that way like a bottle of soda water, Nurse Jane?" asked the rabbit. "It popped because of the ginger in it," was the reply. "Taste and see if you like my ginger pop."

She poured it into a glass and when Uncle Wiggily sipped it he said: "Oh, that's jolly! It's cold enough to make me stop being thirsty and it's warm enough to drink even on a cold day. Your ginger pop is wonderful!"

"I'm glad you like it," she said. "I'll make more bottles for me," begged Mr. Longears. "I am going to take shaking up to my fat pig friend, Mr. Twitstail."

Nurse Jane filled more bottles with the fizzy, frothy, hot-cold drink and gave them to Uncle Wiggily. "But don't shake them up until just before you want to take a drink," she warned him. "If you do out will pop the cork and it may hit you on the nose."

"I'll be careful!" the rabbit gentleman promised, drinking the last of his ginger pop from the glass.

Then, with the bottles of Nurse Jane's famous ginger pop the bunny uncle started to hop over the fields and through the woods to the pen

NOW TAKE OFF FAT A POUND A DAY ON A FULL STOMACH

Do Just These Two Simple Things
Fat Melts Away

NO firing exercise, no starvation. Instead, a full stomach, and never a hungry moment! Yet fat melts away. You can easily lose from four to seven pounds weekly, see the coarse lines of fat replaced by the refined lines of slenderness—and feel better than you ever felt before in your life.

WHAT YOU DO

There are just two simple things you do: Clear your system—and keep it clear of waste matter, toxins and depleting poisons with ordinary JAD SALTS obtainable at any drug store. Start with a teaspoonful in a full glass of water to-morrow morning—a sparkling and pleasant drink.

Then EAT YOUR FILL—as much as your appetite can stand—of meals consisting of the following foods:

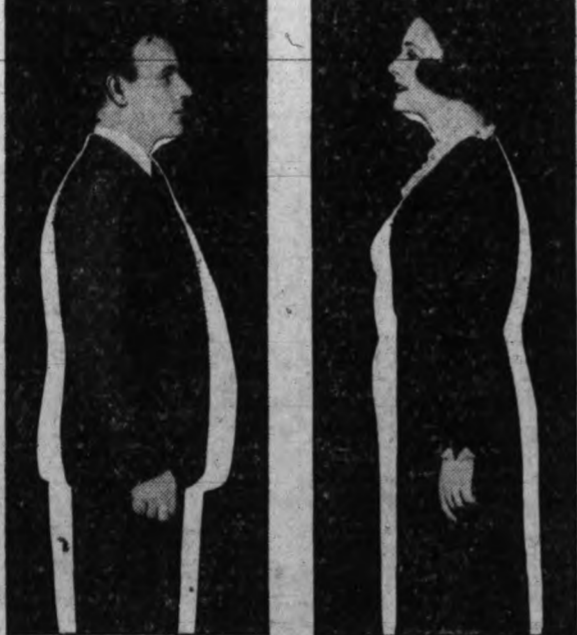

At breakfast eat two oranges, or the juice of two oranges. Eat also two slices of toasted whole wheat or bran bread. Fat rolled out (with milk not cream).

At luncheon eat a good size piece of lean meat, then see how much spinach, lettuce, sauerkraut, boiled cabbage, green peas, browned or fresh turnips you can eat. FAT ALL YOU CAN COMFORTABLY HOLD OF these foods. For dessert eat any fresh fruit: cantaloupe, berries, apples, sliced oranges, pears, substitute turnips, for potatoes. Substitute lean meat—beef, chicken, veal, white fish, trout, bass, etc.—for pork or any fat meats.

At night, have another FILL-UP—FILL meal as above. Cut down on butter and sweets—eat half of what you eat now. That's easy. For with your stomach full of other foods, you'll never notice it. Drink water or not as you like.

4 TO 7 POUNDS GONE IN WEEK

At the end of a week, you'll see the scale, down four to seven pounds—according to how much overweight you are—from what you weighed the day you started. Your health, too, will be better. You'll be more active, more vigorous than perhaps for years. Your friends will soon begin to notice your increasing slenderness. You'll soon avoid the embarrassment of being called fat or bulky. And—you'll do it with NEVER A HUNGRY MOMENT!

If in doubt about this safe and simple way, ASK ANY DOCTOR. Show him this article. Ask him whether or not it is safe and sure. It marks the latest findings of scientific men in the field of weight reduction. For it performs two necessary and important functions.

The JAD SALTS clear the bowels and system of the excessive toxins most overweight people have. "The change in diet—the FILLING OF THE STOMACH TO ITS LIMIT—with foods that turn to energy instead of fat, decreases the weight day by day. The salts build up your health. The change in food eases off the fat."

Start to-day. Clip out this dietary and save it. Get big package of ordinary JAD SALTS for the cleansing part of the method at any drug store. A large bottle costs less than a dollar.

*Note particularly—the salts are urged purely as a poison-banishing agent—not as a reducing. The change in food does the work.

Horoscope

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1931

Astrologers read this as rather a trying day, since good and evil planetary aspects coincide. It is a day to pursue only routine matters. Women, however, are subject to a fortunate guidance which should benefit them in their public work as well as their domestic interests. This is read as a happy wedding day, making for the bride the beginning of a life in which there will be many diverse interests. It is a lucky day in which to enter into an engagement to marry. Loyalty and lasting affection are promised. This should be a favorable house away under which to shop for clothing, house furniture and whatever contributes to personal comfort. Mercantile pursuits are not so well

President Will Visit Rebekahs

To-morrow evening Mrs. Gladys Turvey, president of the Rebekah Assembly of B.C., will pay her official visit to Colfax Rebekah Lodge No. 1, I.O.O.F. As usual this promises to be one of the big events of the year. A banquet will be held at 6.30 o'clock in the dining hall, followed by the regular meeting of the lodge when the initiatory degree will be conferred on two candidates. A cordial invitation is extended to the members of Carus Rebekah Lodge and all visiting Rebekahs to attend both banquet and meeting.

of fat, jolly Mr. Twitstail, the big gentleman. "One bottle for me," murmured Uncle Wiggily, one bottle for Mr. Twitstail, and one bottle of Nurse Jane's ginger pop for an adventure. On and away he hopped to see his fat pig friend. And if the parlor rug will curl up under the mantle and go to sleep when the radio wants to wake him I shall tell you about the bunny's adventure in the next story, which will be about Uncle Wiggily's funny gun.

"GANGSTERS" OF LAST CENTURY ARE RECALLED

W. C. Moresby, K.C., Tells Story of Desperado Gang in British Columbia

Murder, robbery and terrorism in British Columbia fifty years ago were recalled by W. C. Moresby, K.C., as a sidelight to an address to members of the city police school last week. After a talk on legal procedure Mr. Moresby told the story of "The McLeans and Hare," desperadoes of the most dangerous type who terrorized the interior in the late '70s.

The outlaws were all half-breeds. Allen, Charley and Archie McLean were sons of a well-known rancher, and Alexander Hare was the son of a French rancher. The youngest of the McLeans was only sixteen years old. They were all of a wild, reckless disposition and being good horsemen and capital shots preferred a roving life to settled employment. They committed some depredations in the way of horse and cattle stealing, but the high respect in which their parents were held prevented any complaints being made. Finally their activities became so widespread, however, that magistrates were asked to bring them to time.

John Usher, the Kamloops constable, was furnished with a warrant, and hearing that the outlaws boasted they would never be taken alive, induced three other men to accompany him. All were badly armed as they did not expect much resistance.

The party overtook the desperadoes near a cluster of trees about ten miles from Kamloops; the latter had horses with them but dismounted and hid behind trees as the constables approached. Usher and a companion rode forward to within a short distance of the other men when Allen McLean fired, hitting his companion in the cheek. Usher sprang from his horse and called out to the outlaws to cease firing; Hare rushed at him with a knife in one hand and a pistol in the other. A struggle between Hare and Usher followed and Usher fell. Allen McLean called to his accomplices to kill Usher, and Archie stepped forward and fired at Usher, killing him. Hare saw some movement of the body and plunged his knife into it three times. Usher's companion had received another wound in the knee, and seeing that they were unable to cope with the desperadoes he and the others rode away for help, bringing Usher's body in later.

This happened on December 6, 1879. The same day the McLeans and Hare met a quiet, inoffensive sheep herder named Kelly some distance from the scene of the first murder. Hare shot him dead, and they rifled the body, dividing the spoils. They called at settlers' houses on the way, threatening the inmates and carrying off all arms, ammunition and provisions that they could find.

SEIGE AT CABIN
Meanwhile a posse had been formed to chase them down. When overtaken in a log cabin near a creek they were called upon to surrender and replied with rifle shots. A regular siege was established and the cabin surrounded. After twenty-four hours of this the outlaws surrendered. They were manacled and taken to Kamloops. Subsequently they were brought to New Westminster where they were tried and condemned to death on March 19, 1880.

SING REQUIEM AT CATHEDRAL

Choir and Orchestra Will Render Brahms' Beautiful Work on Armistice Day

Brahms' Requiem will be sung at Christ Church Cathedral on the evening of Armistice Day at 8.30 o'clock. The choir and orchestra will be assisted by Mrs. G. Goodman and Dr. H. Johns, and will be directed by Stanley Bulley.

Like Bach and Handel, Brahms selected the words for his work from the German translation of the Bible, and thus invested the requiem with a new meaning and a new content.

The fundamental note of the work is not the inexorable verdict of the master of the world, as in the Latin Requiem; neither is it the day of judgment with its horrors and tortures, nor the contrition of the repentant sinner. The basic idea is that death the redeemer brings eternal peace for the deceased and spiritual uplift for those mourning.

It is therefore peculiarly suitable for performance on Armistice Day, with its universal message of peace for the departed and comfort for the sorrowing. A collection will be taken.

Langford

On November 12 the second general meeting of the local branch of the Parent-Teacher Association will be held in the schools at 8 o'clock. The speaker will be M. Campbell, who will take as his subject, "What a Parent-Teacher Association Can Accomplish."

Members of St. Matthew's Church Guild held their monthly meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. O. G. Hogg, Erie Street. Details were arranged for a sale of work and social afternoon with silver tea to be held at the home of the vice-president, Miss L. M. A. Savory, Swastika, Goldstream Road, on Wednesday, November 25.

Mrs. J. M. Ritchie has been the guest of Mrs. A. Cowie, Lakeholm, Leigh Road.

Metchosin

The regular meeting of St. Mary's branch of the Women's Auxiliary of the Church of England in Canada will be held on Thursday, November 12 at the vicarage at 2.30 o'clock. Mrs. C. de V. Scholfield will be the speaker. The members of the Sooke branch have been invited to attend. All members holding thanksgiving boxes or any other funds are requested to hand in the same at this meeting in order that the books may be closed for the annual meeting.

Reducing Is Beneficial If Diet Is Rightly Balanced

Temperament Has Little Relation to Weight, and Fat Persons Are Often Nervous

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN

The Scotch investigators, Drs. Dunlap and Lyon, found a very significant point in which everyone who is overweight will be interested. It is frequently assumed that temperament is an important factor in causing overweight, and that the frequent rapid motions in which a high strung individual indulges during the course of twenty-four hours burn up fuel which the slower, easy-going people conserve and store in their bodies. The popular conception of stout people is that they are easy going and quiet.

It was, therefore, surprising to find that the slower, easy-going people who are overweight claim to be of excitable and nervous disposition, and that only 10 per cent were phlegmatic. Anyone who happens to know well an excitable fat person knows that an excitable fat person appears to be much more excitable than an excitable thin person. Perhaps it is merely the exaggeration of the movements of those who are overweight.

In endeavoring to handle the 523 cases of overweight which they studied, the Scotch physicians gave each patient detailed instructions about reducing the diet. The amount of food taken varied from 1,000 to 1,600 calories a day, according to the activity of the patient.

Short women who led quiet lives were given 1,000 calories a day; the more active women 1,200 calories a day, and the men 1,500 calories a day. Enough protein was supplied in the diet to take care of the repair of the tissue and the building of the body tissue. The amount of sugar or carbohydrates given was enough to prevent undue feeling of weakness which a very low sugar intake almost invariably brings about. Thus the diet contained protein sixty-six grams, fat thirty-eight grams, and carbohydrates 100 grams, giving a total of about 1,000 calories.

There are now available numerous books of instructions which tell how to pick a diet according to the protein, carbohydrates, and fat content, and also with relationship to the total amount of calories supplied. Under these diets the patients lose on an average of 1.9 pounds a week, proving again that what the doctors call good physiology bookkeeping is one of the best possible methods for reducing the weight.

It was found that the effect of the weight loss on the general health of these overweight people was decidedly beneficial. In the majority of cases they felt better and were able to work more without loss in weight than previously. Particularly were they relieved of pains in the knees and in the feet, which were an evidence of the difficulty these structures were having in carrying the excess weight.

When the treatment was discontinued, most of the patients began to gain weight again. However, those who modified their diets and adjusted them to the amount of work they had to do were able to maintain their reduction in weight without a great deal of difficulty.

At Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 9.—Conclusions that two of the twenty-one persons lynched in 1930 "certainly" were innocent and eleven others "possibly" so were advanced today by a Southern Commission on the Study of Lynching along with a criticism of hasty trials and "legal lynchings."

COLLEGE IS EXTENDED TO BEAT SCHOOL

Craigdarroch Ruggers Forced All Out to Down University; Have Line Crossed

Brentwood Defeats Canadian Scottish; Gunners Whip Oak Bay Wanderers

College's smooth-working intermediate rugby machine rolled onto its fourth victory in as many starts over a bumpy path at University School as the blue-and-gold horde battled through to a 17 to 11 victory over the Mount Tomlin boys in Saturday's feature English code tussle.

It was the first time the Craigdarroch line had been crossed this year. Brentwood College, playing a good backfield game, stayed right behind the league leaders with a 13 to 0 win over the Canadian Scottish at Tod Inlet, and the Gunners retained third place in the league by humbling the Oak Bay Wanderers 13 to 6. No change was seen in the standings.

University School's fine stand came as a surprise to college.

After battling around midfield for the first seven minutes, the blue-and-gold line swung into action at centre field. Colgate started a run. He passed to Patrick, who threw to Mabee. Mabee raced for the corner and threw to Copeland, who went over near the flag for the first try. Carey missed the kick for extra points.

Twenty minutes from the start, Roberts took the ball from the loose at midfield and passed to Patrick. The Mount Tomlin boys were broken into the scoring column. Legat engineered a nice wing run and kick play Patrick was brought down on the catch and the ball was passed to Mabee, who passed to Copeland, who threw to McKee, who crossed the College line for the first time this season. The kick failed.

The Mount Tomlin boys were still pressing at the interval.

College forced play at the opening of the second half, but Mackie II cleared.

Surprise try

Brentwood Mackie pulled the surprise of the match shortly after. He took the ball from the scrum at midfield and tricked his way through the College back to score near the posts. Mercer converted to put the Craigdarroch team on the short end of the score for the first time this year.

College fought back from the kick-off and two minutes later Copeland went over on a pass from Mabee to McKee, who crossed the line.

College's three-quarter movement started by Patrick. The kick went wide and College retained a one-point lead.

Patrick opened up the next effective play, passing to Mabee when he was brought down by Mackie II. Mabee ploughed over, circled behind the line and fell on the ball between the posts.

Mabee closed the College's scoring some minutes later, finishing another fine three-quarter run in which Colgate, Patrick and Miller also featured. He got over near the corner. The try went unconverted.

Redoubting their offensive, University again forced into College's ground with Legat gaining the Craigdarroch fifteen-yard line on a wing run. At this point the Mount Tomlin boys were given a free kick and Mercer sent the ball between the posts to bring the score to 17 to 11.

H. A. Tomlin refereed and the teams lined up as follows:

Victoria College—Nelson, Mabee, Patrick, Miller, Copeland, Skilling, Colgate, Robinson, Thorpe, Fyke, Upward, Croft, Wilson and Roberts.

University School—Mackie II, Legat, Mercer, Mackie I, Smith, Allen II, Brown II, Kerfoot, Hawkeye, Clement, Carlyle, Britton, McKee, Menzies and Haves.

Brentwood wins

Showing a slight edge over the Scottish all through the match, Brentwood stayed in second position in the league by their win at Tod Inlet.

The Highlanders tried hard at the start, but were held at midfield by the Students. Todd nearly scored on a five-yard scrum. Fraser scored a run through for the first try. Mitchell converted.

Brentwood pressed from the kick-off, but was forced back by the troops, who unleashed a good attack to gain the Students' twenty-five yards cleared and Brentwood went into the Highlanders' ground, but just failed to get across.

Legat cleared a good Highland rush at the opening of the second half with a kick to midfield.

Brentwood took the ball from the line-out, then made a good opening and passed to Archibald, who scored between the posts. Mitchell again added the extra points on the kick.

OVER ON LONG RUN

Wilkins closed the scoring shortly after, going over near the flag after a fifty-yard run. Arkell missed the kick.

For the remainder of the half Brentwood pressed but the troops held them out.

Darbyshire refereed and the teams lined up as follows:

Scottish—Cornell, Rowton, Heslin, Lee, Muirhead, Urie, Warburton, Giller, Parker, David, Stark, Kirkham, Tryer, Hall and Land.

Brentwood—Arkell, Todd, Barrett, Lennard, Thorn, Woods, Fraser, Will, Shariand, Archibald, Driscoll, Poole, Buck, Kinloch, Wilkinson and Mitchell.

Gunners victors

Taking advantage of their break and matching their opponents well in the backfield, Fifth Regiment scored over Oak Bay Wanderers. The losers saw as much of the play as the Gunners but were unable to make their attacks count as well.

Wanderers missed a good chance to score at the opening when a free kick from the twenty-five yard wide, Ken Weaver opened the scoring early in the first half, going over after a good three-quarter movement. Ted Robinson converted.

Williams almost got over shortly after the kick-off, but McKinnon secured and touched down for a twenty-five yard kick. Play resumed from end to end for several minutes before Mike Slater, fast and tricky inside three, who turned in a fine performance for the Oak Bay boys, broke through for the Wanderers' lone try. Carmichael missed the kick.

CONVERTS PENALTY

A short time after the rest interval, Robinson increased the Gunners' lead, scoring on a free kick from the Wanderers' twenty-five.

Big Gault scored the fifth's second try racing across the Oak Bay line after a fifty-yard burst through broken field. Ted Robinson again converted.

Wanderers secured their other three points on a free kick from the Gunners' twenty-five. Carmichael sending the ball between the posts.

Play saw-awed from end to end in the closing minutes.

ARMISTICE DAY SERVICE HELD AT CATHEDRAL

Congregation Overflowed
Spacious Christ Church Yesterday Afternoon
Sacrifices of War Heroes Commemorated at Solemn Ceremony

The special Armistice memorial service, held yesterday afternoon at Christ Church Cathedral, was attended by an audience which filled the spacious building to capacity. Scores of worshippers stood in the aisles and entrance lobbies throughout the impressive service, which was attended by many naval and military officers in uniform among them being Commander R. L. Agnew, R.C.N., Senior Naval Officer and five officers from the Esquimalt Naval Barracks; Lieutenant-Commander Hart of H.M.C.S. Vancouver, Lieut.-Commander Soubay of H.M.C.S. Arcturion, each being accompanied by their respective staffs; Brigadier-General Brown, District Officer Commanding Military District No. 11, members of the Work Point Barracks staff and officers of the active militia units of Victoria.

The standard bearers of the various local chapters of the Imperial Order of the Service the bearers returned to the altar and received back their standards, which were carried in procession out of the cathedral by many members of the order attended the service.

Naval cadets, Boy Scouts and Girl Guides also attended the service. Accompaniments to the hymns and musical selections prior to and following the service, were provided by the band of the Fifth Coast Brigade Canadian Artillery, the thirty-day instrumentalists, led by Bandmaster C. A. Raine, played Handel's "Largo" and a selection from Mendelssohn's "Elijah." The closing voluntary was a fantasia on "God Save the King" and "Rule Britannia."

IMPRESSIVE SERVICE
The service opened with observance of a silent tribute to the war dead. The hymn, "O God Our Help in Ages Past" was sung, and Rev. E. F. Church of Metropolitan United Church recited the invocation. The scripture reading was given by Rev. W. G. Willet, D.D., pastor of First United Church, and prayers were led by Very Rev. C. S. Quinlan, Dean of Columbia.

Rev. G. Stevenson, rector of Lady-smith, was the principal speaker in an impressive address told of the significance of Armistice Day, the sacrifices which it commemorated and the duty which it placed upon the living. He reminded the citizens of the debt of gratitude to the men of the Great War and their dependents. He concluded with a stirring appeal to all to remember the words of St. John: "Be ye faithful unto death and I will give thee a crown of life."

A silver collection was taken for the funds of the Armistice Day Red Cross organizations, including the Canadian Red Cross, the British Empire League, the "The Silent Tribute," a bugler sounded the Last Post. The benediction was given by Dean Quinlan and Revellie was then sounded.

Big Sale in Next Two Days Needed to Avert Failure
"Poppy Day ended with a large stock of unsold wreaths and poppies at the Red Cross Workshop and at the headquarters of the Armistice Period Red Cross fund, and the $2,300 collected during the day will scarcely pay out account with the Red Cross Workshop, a representative of the committee said to-day.

The economic condition made itself felt in the sale of poppies and scores of wreaths were left on hand when the day's work ceased. In addition, the Red Cross Workshop is stated to have a large stock of poppies. The poppy makers' situation is critical. Unless there is an unprecedented demand during the next two days there will be little or no employment during the next twelve months for the disabled veterans who make the flower remembrance.

"Not only will workers at the Red Cross Workshop suffer from the partial failure of Poppy Day, but hundreds of veterans who are assisted from the fund created by the poppy will seek for help in vain."

Headquarters of the 121 Government Street, Arcade Building, will remain open until 10 o'clock, Wednesday night. The community crows, which is there, has room for the sale of all poppies and many business houses and clubs can find room for a wreath. We appeal for help."

COLE IS GIVEN TWO-YEAR TERM
Drug Pedler Also Has $200 Fine Imposed by Magistrate
George Jay

Fred Cole, convicted on charges of possession and selling of narcotic drugs in Cole's possession was small, the offence was nevertheless serious. The Criminal Code provided a maximum penalty of seven years and a fine up to $1,000, at the discretion of the magistrate, whipping.

"Although I do not think the last need apply in your case, I must impose a term which will teach you a lesson not to traffic in drugs," he said.

The same penalty was imposed for each offence, to run concurrently.

Alberta has on 70,000 farms, averaging eighty per acre, produced 31,000,000 dozen eggs in 1930.

SAYS HOSPITAL FINANCE DUTY OF GOVERNMENT

Erick Would Have Federal and Provincial Bodies Furnish Funds

To Go Into Hospital Area Proposal at Special Council Meeting To-night

The most satisfactory way of solving the financial problems of the Royal Jubilee Hospital, according to Reeve Erick of Esquimalt, would be to turn the duty of raising funds over to the federal and provincial governments. When questioned on the matter this morning, he stated he expected a resolution to that effect would be passed at the special meeting this evening of the Esquimalt Council.

"I do not think Esquimalt will favor the hospital area plan suggested by the directors," he declared. He said the logical outcome of such a scheme would be a per capita tax on the residents of his district to raise Esquimalt's share of the levy required to build the hospital.

"I do not think it would be possible to collect a per capita tax for the hospital if Esquimalt adopted the area plan. We should secure $750 in need of the hospital and the levy would be a per capita tax on the residents of his district to raise Esquimalt's share of the levy required to build the hospital."

"It is too bad. We realize the value of the hospital and the splendid work being done by the directors, but we can do nothing about it. There is something wrong with the system."

SPECIAL MEETING
Reeve Erick, along with other municipal and civic representatives, met the hospital board last Wednesday and was asked to submit the area proposal to the council and report back at another meeting on Friday evening. The special session has been called to-night.

Under present arrangements, the Esquimalt council has to pay several cents for every resident using the hospital, whether or not they pay their bills.

"Our power to collect taxes is limited to the number of property owners in Esquimalt. Taxes are now too high. Too much land is reverting to the municipality and if the taxes are raised more will follow, lowering our revenue and increasing our expenses," said the Reeve.

"I think the hospital finance question is one for the Dominion and provincial governments. They have more power to raise revenue than the municipalities. They could meet the requirements with an extra levy on incomes, which we cannot do."

SUES STORAGE FOR BAD EGGS
Trial of the H. T. Oldfield for some months, of the H. T. Oldfield of Prospect Lake against the Victoria Cold Storage and Terminal Warehouse Company, got under way to-day before Judge Lampman.

Mr. Oldfield claims $1,518 damage to 230 cases of eggs which he placed in the storage plant at Ogden Point. He claims the loss was due to negligence and unskillfulness on the part of the officials of the plant in storing eggs in close proximity to fruit.

The statements submitted to the judge were that fifty-two cases of Mr. Oldfield's eggs were entirely spoiled, while 178 cases depreciated to the extent of 80 per cent.

Mr. Oldfield on the stand, told of putting the eggs in cold storage last October, and how he found them covered with a mold a short time later, and had been left in the same room with fruit.

Questioned by Ralph Matthews, defence counsel, as to whether he had been fined $50 for infringing the Egg Act some time ago, Mr. Oldfield explained the fine was imposed on him for selling eggs that were not up to grade, but not for selling bad eggs.

W. E. Wilson, put on the stand by the defence counsel for Mr. Oldfield, explained the general practice in cold storage work was never to store eggs and fruit together.

EGGS BREATHE
"Eggs are breathers and are bound to be affected by the odors and humidity arising from other products," Mr. Wilson said.

Frederick Harold Ranson, egg expert, testified that he went to the Ogden Point plant to grade Mr. Oldfield's eggs. He said he found one-quarter of an inch of mold on the boxes and when he opened them found mold on the eggs. He said that on the stand by the defence counsel for Mr. Oldfield, explained the general practice in cold storage work was never to store eggs and fruit together.

STATES RETURN TO PROSPERITY TO BE GRADUAL

U.S. Must Overcome Glut in Domestic Markets Caused By Instalment Buying
C. P. W. Schwengers Urges Safeguarding of Railways and Redistribution of Gold

As the glut caused by instalment buying during the last three years gradually disappeared and the United States domestic market was re-established, that country would recover from its depression to a large extent, stated C. P. W. Schwengers, in addressing the directors of the Chamber of Commerce at their luncheon in the chamber to-day.

As far as Canada was concerned, he saw immediate difficulties facing the Dominion in paying off its maturities in the United States. By curtailment of the entire economic system, he thought this could be overcome.

Railroads throughout the continent, suffering from the competition of motor transportation, had to be safeguarded and a more equitable distribution of gold was to be put into effect before conditions would return to normal prosperity, he stated.

Above all things now, it is necessary for the business world to keep a true perspective of the conditions we are up against," said the speaker. The present depression is running true to form. The present economic system is the only one we know. It has withstood all the menaces the world can produce and has survived. By its very vitality it has shown itself to be of worth.

"I believe it is we who are to blame for the abuse of the system, not the system itself," Mr. Schwengers stated. He proposed to treat his subject as he saw conditions in eastern United States and Canada during a recent visit.

GOLD STORED AWAY
In New York, the outlook was worse than pessimistic. It was one of four years ago that the gold standard was tottering, Mr. Schwengers said, adding that great numbers of gilt-edged bonds had been converted into gold and stored away in safety deposit boxes, thus expecting a complete breaking down in the capitalist system.

Canada faced a more serious situation than the United States, which he remarked, was the richest nation in the world. Maturity of loans in the United States, which had to be paid by Canada in the next few months, was a real money for these, he said, the country could raise domestic bonds, but these would require exorbitant rates. It was impossible to use Canada's gold reserve and the depreciation of commodity values on the export market also made trade an unsatisfactory means of settling the maturities.

Curtalement of imports, he said, as the only method of raising funds to meet these maturities. Rigid economy would also have to be practiced in Canada.

To the shrinkage of domestic business he attributed one of the causes of depression in the United States. Domestic business in that country amounted to about 90 per cent of its trade.

INSTALMENT BUYING
Instalment buying during the last three years he blamed principally for this shrinkage. By this system all people were encouraged to pledge their future salaries, whether they earned them or not, to buy goods they bought on time. By this means six years' business had been condensed into three years.

This was particularly evident in the radio and automobile fields, he said. The process had led to great increases in factory building and buying. When this abnormal system, with its terrific inflation, reached the bursting point, depression had to follow.

He drew an analogy between present conditions and a boom in the paint industry. When everyone in the country had painted their houses, the paint industry would soar up. When all houses had been painted, it would fall.

But, after a few years, as the houses required repainting, the business would be gradually built up again. "Wear and tear" would eventually restore business in Canada, he declared.

MIRROR OF PROSPERITY
Dealing with the railway situation he noted that this industry was the mirror of national prosperity. Railways handled seventy per cent of the goods of the country. Particularly in the transportation of foodstuffs had it been with the railway industry would soar up. When all houses had been painted, it would fall.

The people were constantly calling upon railways to incorporate all new inventions. How were the railways going to find money to keep on making these improvements, he asked. One source of funds lay in profits, but most of these did not show more than five per cent.

The next method of raising money was in selling stocks. But people were not investing heavily in railways unless assured good profits. Sale of bonds furnished another source of income. But this was offset owing to the fact that in the United States at least, government securities prevented sales of stock below certain levels.

Investment of life insurance companies in rail bonds when the latter were menaced, jeopardized the savings of the working man who invested in life insurance, he pointed out.

Motor transportation, with very little cost, could use government roads in direct opposition to the railways, he said, declaring it was in the interests of the public to see that the railways were safeguarded.

NO EVENING FIELD
To the maldistribution of gold he laid another cause for the depression. Before the war Great Britain was the moneylenders of the world, giving out loans at low rates of interest, and allowing her debtors to pay off in goods. Thereby Britain developed her trade. Since then, the United States had gone into the money lending field, charging twice the rate of interest.

Safe confidence, not waves of optimism, was needed to restore the world to its normal state. He saw a hopeful sign in the fact that governments were beginning to realize what had to be done before prosperity could be re-established, and expressed faith in the belief that conditions would be gradually righted.

The cancelled list included "more than 500 names of married residents of Saanich, but only 300 men were discharged from active work when the municipality closed down relief undertakings last week."

Saanich has paid out nearly $20,000 in wages and materials in five weeks. The enrolment has steadily increased each week, despite efforts by the council and the municipality's officials to limit the expansion. Of the $20,000 paid out $16,000 was for wages and the remainder was required for materials.

CUT TO 150 MEN
The new registration is designed to eliminate, from the list of men eligible for work, all those who have any property or resource which make it possible for them to support their families without privation. When the municipality resumes relief work on November 16, it is expected that around 150 men will be given employment, that being the maximum number for which the council is sure it can provide work until next March.

Should the municipality receive the contract to rebuild the road up Little Saanich Mountain for the Dominion government, it would provide almost two months' work for over 100 additional men. Unofficial advice from Ottawa states that Saanich's offer to construct the road at cost will be accepted, but no formal notification has yet been received at the municipal hall.

Men registering for work this morning trenchantly criticized the announced intention of the council to reduce the daily rate of pay to $2. It is probable that a strong deputation will seek an interview with the council on Thursday evening, when it sits as the unemployment relief committee to decide who are to be given work.

THE SPOR'S MIRROR

Fine Sports Programme Arranged for Wednesday Afternoon

Dempsey Can Still Hit as Hard as Ever, Says Leo Lomski

Clarry Foran Develops Great Rugby Team for Montreal A.A.A.

Pro Charges Against M. M. "Bobby" Robinson Seem Rather Petty

ONE OF the finest sports cards offered fans this winter is scheduled at the Royal Athletic Park on Wednesday afternoon. The public is enjoying a holiday and the rugby and football officials have drawn up a splendid afternoon's card that is expected to draw a record attendance. Starting at 1.15 o'clock two all-star football eleven from the Saturday and Wednesday Leagues will clash in the opening game of the series for the Ansonby Cup, at present retained by the Saturday players. This game will be followed by the "Army" rugby game between the Fifth Regiment Gunners and the Canadian Scottish senior fifteens.

The rugby game should be one of the finest seen here in years. The Scottish, who won the championship last season have lined up a strong team, with the majority of their last year's players back in harness, while the Gunners, a new entry this season, have gathered together a club of first class players. And on top of this there is the keen rivalry that exists between the two military units. The bands from the two regiments will be in attendance to enliven the proceedings with popular airs.

A little inside information on just how good Jack Dempsey is shaping up in his comeback attempt was obtained from Leo Lomski, Aberdeen heavyweight, who fought here on Saturday. Lomski traveled around with Dempsey for three weeks during his barnstorming tour of the Pacific Northwest and as a result had a good chance to look Jack over. In his opinion Dempsey is hitting just as hard as he ever did and in a slugger's mind, was able to beat any of the present heavyweights, including Schmeling, the champion. However, the big question mark is Jack's legs. The former champion looks all right in four-round bouts but would not be able to stand ten or fifteen rounds with a fast man, Lomski states.

Too much credit cannot be given Clarry Foran for the amazing success this season of the Montreal Winged Wheelers in eastern Canadian football. The Montreal team has beaten the famous Hamilton Tigers twice this season. Clarry, with some little assistance early in the season from Frank Shaughnessy, has turned what can be called a super team. One that makes few mistakes. Once the quarter-back for the team he now coaches, Clarry has developed two of the smartest quarters seen in Canadian football, Hughes and Stevens. Also they excel in the forward passing game, and have put the play on the map after every other eastern team had failed to make much of it. It may have been a great triumph for Foran to trim the Tigers. Particularly so since his old coach, Billy Hughes, was leading the Hamilton team this year. When Hughes left Montreal after three years with the M.A.A.A. there were loud jeers from the Quebec city. But now they have turned into cheers for Clarry Foran.

We were surprised to read about the charges against M. M. "Bobby" Robinson. Hamilton, that he is ineligible to hold office in amateur sport. Capt. J. R. Cornelius, Hamilton, brought the charges against Robinson at a recent meeting of the Ontario branch of the A.A.U. of C. Bobby Robinson isn't a professional, but an amateur athlete. He may have been connected with pro sport in past year, but if that disqualifies him from holding office in amateur athletics, then a high percentage of the players in this country.

As manager of the 1928 Canadian Olympic team and even before that time, Robinson did much for track and field sports, especially in Hamilton. It is surprising that Cornelius should be the one to charge him with professionalism. Robinson may have talked out of turn at Amsterdam in 1928, when he said Canada would not be represented at the 1928 Olympic Games in Los Angeles; he may have been part owner in a pro baseball franchise back in 1911, but the fact remains he has helped materially in the development of track and field athletes in Canada, and it is a safe bet that his connection with amateur athletics has cost him plenty of money.

Regina's Greatest Team Meets Calgary In Final Wednesday

Two Champion Prairie Outfits Will Clash in Sudden-death Game for Championship of Western Rugby; Riders Smothered Winnipeg St. John's 47 to 5 Saturday; Calgary Altomah-Tigers Turn Back Vancouver Athletic Club 14 to 1 to Take Two-game Series 20 to 5; Montreal Winged Wheelers Capture Eastern Crown

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Nov. 9.—The annual title-match of Al Ritchie's roughrider force from Regina is almost complete to-day. The greatest gridiron team Regina has ever sent into the inter-sectional wars needs only to defeat Calgary Altomah-Tigers Wednesday to capture their sixth straight western championship.

TOP FLIGHT SETS RECORD FOR EARNINGS

C. V. Whitney's Thoroughbred Greatest Money Winner of Her Sex With $218,900

Captured Pimlico Futurity on Saturday; Is Favorite For Kentucky Derby

New York, Nov. 9.—It's a far cry from November's wintry blasts to a May day in Kentucky but already another C. V. Whitney thoroughbred is slated to rule as the winter book favorite for the 1932 Kentucky Derby.

In the climb to the top of the two-year-old division, Top Flight won seven consecutive stakes, and set four money and one speed records. The five records were established in winning the Pimlico Futurity last Saturday. The Futurity purse of $56,170 rolled up a grand total of $218,900, making Top Flight the year's greatest money winner, regardless of sex or age. Twenty-five three-year-olds, champion, previously led with a total of $218,845.

SETS NEW RECORD

The triumph also established Top Flight as the greatest money winner of her sex in the world, surpassing the mark of $197,915 established by the English mare, Eclipse. It also broke Princess Doreen's American record of $174,745. The juvenile record of $120,800, hung up in nine successive victories by Domino in 1893, also went into the discard. Both Eclipse and Princess Doreen established their records over several seasons of running, the latter campaigning for six years. In addition to the money records, Top Flight covered the same one-hundredth mile in 1:44 4-5, a new record for the event and only two-fifths of a second off the track record set by Hephastion under 107 pounds. Top Flight, carried by the filly allowance, carried 115.

ST. SAVIOUR'S WHIP ROYALS

Saints Hand New Westminster Footballers First Defeat of Season 4 to 3

Vancouver, Nov. 9.—Forced to take the field without Hogg, West and Bruce, all injured, St. Saviours put up a great display at Con Jones Park Saturday and inflicted the first defeat of the season on Westminster Royals by a 4 to 3 score before a crowd of 2,500. The Churchmen were full value for their victory, having much the better of the game after the interval. Turner put the Royals ahead after twenty minutes' play with an unstoppable shot, but five minutes later Moffat equalized with a great cross-drive which Sanford made no attempt to clear, at half-time the score was 1 to 1. Five minutes after resuming Coulters put in a slow shot which Dewar kicked past his own goal to put Royals in the lead once more, but shortly after Edwards headed the equalizer from a lovely corner-kick by Moffat. The same player put St. Saviours ahead again by sheer doggedness in another five minutes, but Turner once more leveled the score by heading a high centre from Preston. Another five minutes had gone when Delaney kicked a shot from Hall into his own net to give St. Saviours the deciding goal.

Ex-King George Still Lead Race For Miller Cup

Vancouver, Nov. 9.—Ex-King George rugger held their position at the head of the Miller Cup series of the Vancouver Rugby Union Saturday when they vanquished U.B.C. at Douglas Park. Rowing Club broke the second place tie with ex-Magee when they downed ex-Techs, 12 to 3, while ex-Magee were playing a scoreless draw with Occasionals. Meralomas gained another notch in the standings when they trimmed Varsity, 8 to 3.

Powered by a sharp-shooting backfield that ran riot in an eight touchdown orgy, Roughriders overwhelmed Winnipeg St. John's, Manitoba champions, 47 to 5, here Saturday. Playing at home, Calgary's Alberta titlists downed Vancouver Athletic Club, challengers from British Columbia, 14 to 1. Calgary won the two-game total score series, 20 to 5.

With a third-straight victory over prairie opposition, University of Manitoba, qualified at St. John's to meet University of British Columbia for the western intercollegiate title. The Manitobans beat University of Saskatchewan, defending champions, 4 to 2.

ONE SURPRISE
The only surprise in the west's rugby programme was afforded Moose Jaw fans when their young Maroons, junior champions of Saskatchewan, set back Winnipeg Native Sons 4 to 1 in their sudden-death semi-final. Moose Jaw qualified to meet Calgary Altomah's in the western junior final by beating the highly-rated Native Sons, Dominion finalists last season.

While Calgary prospered by the busy boot of Bob Hall, their brilliant kicker who contributed every point in the 14 to 1 victory over Vancouver, Regina worked varied attack on St. John's here. Curtis Schave, 160-pound graduate of University of North Dakota, ran the ends for gains of between ten and fifty yards, passed spectacularly, though seldom and kicked equally well as Al McLaughlin, Winnipeg hooper.

Schave scored Regina's first three touchdowns, running twenty yards for the first and twenty-five for the second. Later on Eddie James blasted his way to three additional touchdowns and Desmond Grubb and Fred Goodman got one apiece.

Outclassed by the deadly precision of the Roughrider assault, St. John's made only one answer drive. In the fourth quarter Coulters ran twenty yards to put the ball in Regina territory, and Howie Massey, a substitute backfield, raced forty yards for a touchdown on the next play.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 9.—University of Western Ontario is perched on top of the intercollegiate rugby league championship race to-day as a result of their 3 to 2 victory over Queen's University, who previously had been holding a one-point lead over the western university squad. Title honors are in doubt until next Saturday's battle when Queen's meets Varsity and London ties up with McGill.

A win by the Mustangs will give them the title, but a loss by western and a victory by Queen's would clinch first place for the tri-color.

Undefeated this season and with one more game with Ottawa Roughriders, Montreal Amateur Athletic Association broke the interprovincial championship Saturday by their 4 to 1 victory over Toronto Argonauts. It is the first time since 1919 that the M.A.A.A. squad had won the "big four" title.

In the intercollegiate skrimmage, McGill University vanquished Toronto Varsity, 8 to 3, on the latter's home grounds.

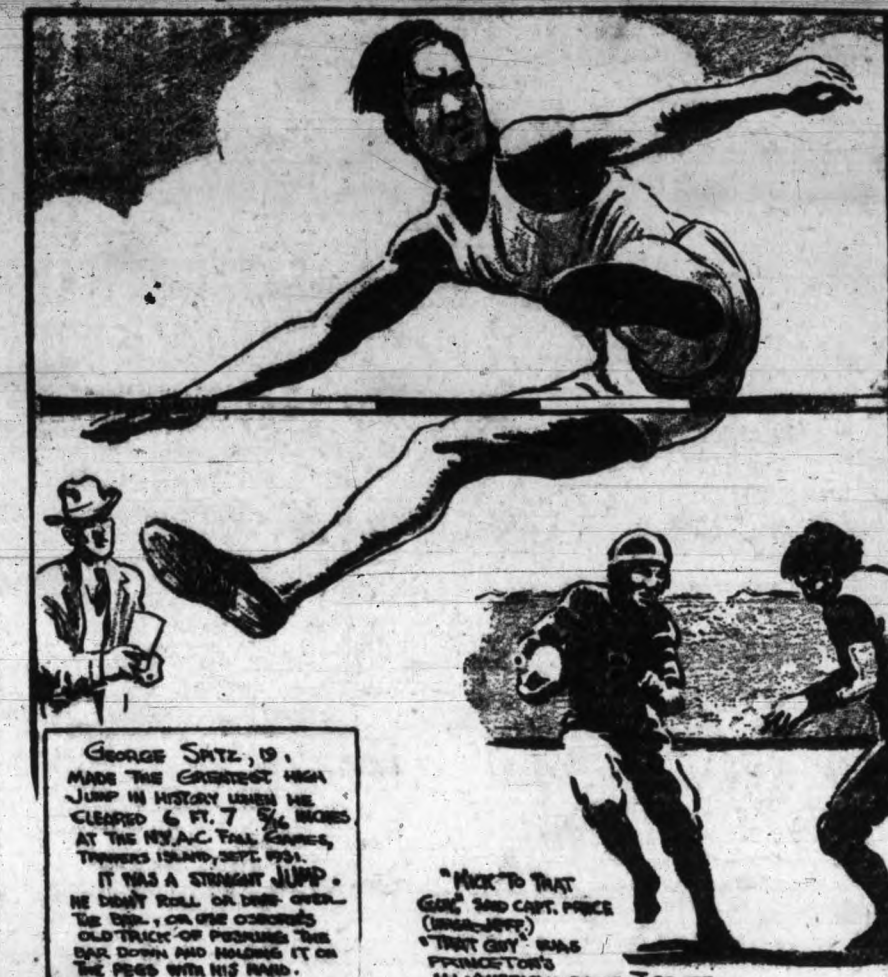

Featuring the Ontario Rugby Football Union, Windsor sprang a surprise by defeating the western section winners, Sarnia Imperials, 14 to 1, at home, but the setback had no material effect on the standings. Kitchener Panthers eked out a 4 to 1 victory over Toronto Varsity "Orfuns" at Kitchener as the senior O.R.F.U. squads wound up their schedule.

Probably on November 11, Balm Beach, Ontario champs and winners of the eastern section, will clash with Sarnia to determine the league champions.

HAMILTON TIGERS WIN
Playing at home, Hamilton Tigers came from behind in the last quarter to defeat Ottawa Roughriders, 14 to 7, in a Big Four fixture. The London-Queen's contest was more dramatic for the slim margin always held by London than for any brilliant display of actual football. A heavy drizzle gave the slush-covered field a slippery footing and neither team made much headway. Two singles in the first quarter gave Mustangs their total. Queen's scored one in the first and managed to come early in the fourth after advancing the ball into western territory late in the third period.

KICKING TO COUNTRY
Due to muddy field, the tilt between M.A.A.A. and Argos never approached spectacular heights, and developed into a duel between Welch and Wally Whitty, Wheelers' hookers, and Frank Turville, Scullers' punting ace. A rouse, a deadline point, and a safety rouse brought Wheelers all their points. The Scullers' only count came when Turville booted a rouse.

South Africans Are Defeated By Victoria Eleven

Melbourne, Australia, Nov. 9.—South Africa lost the first cricket match of their Australian tour today when they were beaten by Victoria by 87 runs. The wicket favored the bowlers after a night's rain and the South Africans fell easy victims to Ironmonger, Victoria's trundler. He had an average of five wickets for 31 runs in South Africa's second innings. Scores were: Victoria 284 and 91, aggregate, 375; South Africa 235 and 53; aggregate 288.

MAX BAER AND RISKO BATTLE THIS EVENING

California Heavyweight and Cleveland in Ten-round at San Francisco

Baer Favored to Win After Beating Santa; Loughran to Battle Paulino

San Francisco, Nov. 9.—Making his second start in a drive he hopes will land him up in the top flight of the heavyweights, big Max Baer who fought and failed before, will meet Johnny Risko, Cleveland, in a ten-round battle here to-night.

The former Livermore butcher boy who lost to Ernie Schaaf, Tommy Loughran and Risko on an eastern vacation last spring, showed some of the form that brought him rating as an outstanding prospect, when he knocked out Jose Santa a few weeks ago.

As a result of his tumbling of the huge Santa, 246 pounds Portuguese, Baer has been made a favorite to reverse the tables on pugny Risko, a trial horse who has bothered many of the ranking heavies.

BAER HAS EDGE
The Californian will have every physical advantage. He stands six feet three inches, nearly half a foot more than Risko, and weighs 284 pounds, compared to 195 pounds for the Cleveland. Baer's reach is eighty-one inches and Risko's seventy-three inches.

The fight, an open-air affair, will be held in Seale's Stadium, home of Pacific Coast League baseball here. A gate of $30,000 is expected.

Gordon's Try Gives Varsity Victory In Final Big Four Game

Students Humble Victoria 5 to 1 in Canadian Rugby Clash Here Saturday Afternoon; Locals Far Below Form and Miss Great Chance For Touchdown in First Quarter; Local Aerial Attack Fails Miserably

Gordon's touchdown in the middle of the second quarter, following an inside kick by Murdoch that caught the Victoria team napping, gave the University of British Columbia a 5 to 1 victory over the Victoria Capitals in the final game of the Big Four Canadian Rugby League at the Royal Athletic Park on Saturday afternoon. The game was devoid of any thrills, the heavy kicking of both teams featuring.

By their victory Varsity finished the season in second place behind the champion Vancouver Athletic Club. The Victoria club ended the season with two victories and a like number of defeats.

The locals missed Lyn Patrick, who was out of the line-up through playing English rugby. He has been receiving the greater percentage of the Victoria crowd's applause. Victoria had an edge on line bucks, with Harold Engelson, Jack Horne and Bellis were for the most part perfect, but the receivers just couldn't hold the ball. Varsity tried four aerial attacks and all were uncompleted. Two of Victoria's passes were intercepted and one of Varsity's.

MISS GREAT CHANCE
The locals passed up their best opportunity to score in the first quarter, when they carried the ball to Varsity's one yard line. With play in mid-field Hunnings plunged through for yards on two successive first downs. After failing to break away on their next down Horne raced through the centre of the Varsity line and was carried outside with the ball at Varsity's one yard line. On the next two downs Hunnings and Horne were thrown back for losses, while Victoria was penalized ten yards for offence on their second down.

GORDON GOES OVER
Half way through the second quarter Varsity took the lead on Gordon's touchdown. With the play on Varsity's twenty-five yard line Murdoch kicked and Harold Engelson fumbled on his own twenty-five yard line, giving Varsity possession. Hedreen went through the centre of the local line for yards. Varsity failed to make their yards on the next two downs, but on the third Murdoch surprised the Victoria players with an inside kick, and Gordon, left in the open, picked up the ball and went over for a touchdown. Murdoch attempted a drop-kick, but failed to get the ball clear and Murdoch secured on his own ten yard line. The same player kicked on the next play to replace the pressure. The first quarter ended with the teams still deadlocked in a scoreless draw.

Stars as English First Division Football Leaders Make Show of West Ham; Waring Scores Three for Aston Villa to Gain Goal Scoring Lead With Sixteen; Shock Tactics of Newcastle United Beat Arsenal

Canadian Press

London, Nov. 9.—West Bromwich Albion took up the role of headliner in English First Division soccer on Saturday, replacing Everton, the sensation for several weeks. The cup-holders made a show of West Ham United, while Everton played to a scoreless draw at Huddersfield, the only First Division game in which there was no count.

West Bromwich played whizz-bang football and started off with a rush. W. G. Richardson, of cup-final fame, firing in four goals of five in the first ten minutes of play. The match was played at Upton Park and the 20,000 present had hardly settled down in their seats before West Bromwich had secured a lead to Aston Villa, who were to be wiped out. Sandford had the fifth marker for West Bromwich. Ruffel saved West Ham from being white-washed with a header from a corner. Waring's three goals for Aston Villa enabled him to snatch leadership in the goal-scoring table from Dean Everton. Waring's season's total is now sixteen against Dean's fourteen. Aston Villa played a newcomer, Blair, transferred Friday from Clyde at an approximate fee of $35,000. While he did not score he assisted the Villa to beat Blackpool.

CHAMPIONS BEATEN

Arsenal, League champions, suffered from the shock tactics of Newcastle United. Beaten last week by Everton by 8 to 1, the Newcastleians made up for Saturday's defeat by scoring three goals in the first half while Arsenal did not score. Arsenal got the range after the turn-around, Lambert making the twelfth minute. Jack reduced Arsenal and it looked as if James had equalized in the last minute, but it was disallowed.

Thirty thousand saw Chelsea get two much-needed points at Stamford Bridge against Derby County. Gallagher and Jackson were in fine form, Jackson heading in the winner three minutes after the first by Dunn. The odd goal out to three.

Riley's clever saves enabled Liverpool to hold out against aggressive work by Blackburn Rovers until Gounson, Hodgson and Barton made the issue safe. In a ding-dong battle Cammell got his usual goal for Middlesbrough, who drew with Manchester City, three all. The match at Leicester City, where Sheffield United lost 4 to 3, had a remarkable beginning. Dunn headed in for Sheffield in the second minute and then two successive goals were disallowed. The first by Dunn, the second by Oswald for a foul against the City goal. Then Lockhead equalized, but Pickering sent the City to get the honors. Oswald also goalied for the United.

HOTSPURS REVIVE

Signs of the long-awaited revival of Tottenham Hotspurs, who have slipped way down the championship table, were seen in the second division, where they beat Swansea Town 6 to 2. A Welsh lad, W. Evans, reputed to be another Edgar, seconded Dunn and was responsible for the Spurs' four other markers.

Canadian Heavyweight Champ Ends Bout With Lutz in Second Round

London, Nov. 9.—Larry Gains, Toronto negro, floored Alexander Lutz, Hungarian heavyweight, five times for varying counts Saturday night before the referee halted the carnage in the second round of a fifteen-round bout, and declared Gains the winner on a technical knockout.

Gains holds the British empire heavyweight championship.

The Hungarian was up match for the lanky Canadian. Larry's long reach was in evidence early in the first round when he landed a solid left flush on Lutz's nose. Lutz went down for a count of five after Gains had landed with a stinging right to the head, and a right to the jaw turned Lutz for an eight count a few seconds before the final round ended.

Gains set out in the second round to end the bout as quickly as possible. A right to the jaw floored Lutz a few seconds after the round started. He took an eight count and rose groggily, only to hit the canvas again for another toll of eight. This time from a left to the jaw. Gains bore in and landed a right, then a left to the face and Lutz went down for the fifth time. He rose immediately, but the referee stopped the fight, awarding it to Gains on a technical knockout.

Duncan, leaders in the Junior Football League, bowed in defeat before the Royal Oak squad following the most surprising match of the season in Saturday's play. The Oaks won 3 to 0. Equimait went down before the Y.M.C.A. 1 to 0, and Banich Thistles ran roughshod over the Fifth Brigade to the tune of 10 to 2. Oakland took the other fixture of the day, hammering out a 5 to 1 victory over Victoria Juniors.

RIGHT CROSS PUTS MULLINS DOWN AND OUT

Leo Lomski, Aberdeen Heavyweight, Scores Knockout in Fifth Round

Displays Plenty of Class; Teddy Beales Drops Decision to Billy Shaw

A terrific right cross that sunk into Steve Mullins' mid-section up to the wrist gave Leo Lomski, the "Aberdeen Assassin," a knockout in the fifth round over the Olympia heavyweight in the scheduled ten-round main event at the Tiltium Gymnasium on Saturday evening. The card, staged under the auspices of the Tiltium Athletic Club, drew a good crowd and the bouts produced plenty of action. In the six-round semi-windup Bill Shaw, Vancouver, won a referee's decision over Teddy Beales, Victoria light heavyweight.

Displaying a beautiful left hand that he shot into Mullins' face and mid-section with punishing effect, Lomski proved to be one of the classiest fighters to ever appear here. He had speed to boot, was shifty and could hit with either hand. The Aberdeen heavyweight appeared content to hold his right in reserve and never cut loose with it until the fifth round, when it was his right that finished the bout.

MULLINS GAME
Mullins proved plenty game and during the five rounds absorbed a lot of punishment. He packs a lot of power in his right hand, but Lomski made sure he never got a chance to shoot it home. In the first round Mullins did the majority of the forcing with Lomski keeping him back with his left hand and body. At times Lomski was holding his right cocked close to his body and on one occasion cut loose with a fast uppercut, but Mullins backed out of the way. At times Lomski was holding his right cocked close to his body and on one occasion cut loose with a fast uppercut, but Mullins backed out of the way.

After a third round in which Lomski had all the edge the Aberdeen heavyweight came out fast to start the fourth and drove Mullins back with a flurry of lefts and rights to the head and body. A right cross to the chin sent Mullins down for the count of ten. Lomski went up to his feet with a rush and chased Lomski and took the grin off Leo's face with a stiff right to the chin, but Mullins was beginning to weaken and his legs were wobbly at the end of the round.

After one minute and five seconds of fighting in the fifth round, Lomski put across the right cross to the solar plexus and Mullins went down for the count.

Knockdown for a nine count in the second round gave Shaw his margin of victory over Beales in the semi-windup. The Victoria fighter came back to win the last two rounds, but was unable to put the mainlander down.

Danny Pastore, Victoria, slugged his way to a draw with Ray Luscombe, Vancouver, in the third bout on the card. The pair met at 145 pounds. "Frankie Neal, Victoria, scored a technical knockout over young Bobby Luscombe, Vancouver, in the second mix on the programme in the fourth and final round. Both weighed in at 125 pounds.

Rallying in the last round, Young Wallace, Vancouver, gained the verdict over Young McCoy, Victoria, in the curtain-raiser. The last fought at 135 pounds over the four-round route.

All the bouts were refereed by Roy Baker, Victoria.

Wheat Prices Up Despite Barrage Of Profit-taking

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Nov. 9.—Wheat futures rallied through a barrage of profit-taking on the Winnipeg Exchange today and not only regained early losses, but finished the session fractionally stronger.

November alone was weaker, showing a drop of one-quarter to 69½, while December was unchanged to one-eighth cent higher at 70½ to 71½. May was up one-eighth at 74½ to 75½, as was July at 74½ to 75.

To reach its closing mark, the market had to push up about 2½ cents from the low point.

Trading volume was not large, and pit operations were chiefly of a professional and speculative nature, with a trace of export interest.

The market opened with a drop of almost two cents in the first two minutes, but as offerings were absorbed and reports received of war clouds looming over the Orient, contracts began to improve. Almost for the rest of the session, quotations were moving steadily upward. Reports of frost in Argentina also aided in strengthening futures.

Demand for the various grades of cash wheat was moderate, with the exception of No. 4 Northern, which weakened slightly.

There was good export in rye and a strong demand for barley among the coarse grains.

To-day's Grain Markets

WINNIPEG
(By Logan & Bryan)
Winnipeg, Nov. 9.—Wheat: Market sold off from 1 to 2½ cents during the first period this morning with local crowd pressing based on the weakness in Liverpool and to the fact that no export sales were reported as having been worked over the week-end.

There was a fair absorption on the decline and around mid-session there was an unconfirmed report that Japan had declared war on China and also a report that Argentina had been visited by frost last night with some damage to the south and west, and early sellers endeavoring to cover up were forced to bid prices upward as offerings were very light and prices on the extreme bulge were 7½ to 1½ above the close on Saturday, but there the full bulge was not held, the market again meeting heavy profit taking.

The market is largely a professional and commission house affair, although final estimates from seaboard on export sales estimated the volume at around 400,000 bushels, largely Manitoba, with a good inquiry existing chiefly under current levels.

The Russian chief of ministry of agriculture indicates that spring grain crops show less drought totaling around 250,000,000 bushels. Russian grain procurements to October 25 amounted to 54 per cent of the yearly plan and 50 per cent of the monthly plan, according to a report received by the U.S. government from its Berlin office. As of the same date fall grain showings totaled 87,400,000 bushels, or 62 per cent of the fall plan and 87 per cent of the total winter acreage last year. Completion of the seeding was said to be unlikely in view of the lateness of the campaign.

A private report from Buenos Aires after opening stated that the frost experienced last night in Southern Buenos Aires and in Pampas would find the crop in these provinces at a critical stage, coming into bloom and very susceptible to frost injury. The Canadian visible supply of wheat increased 8,301,000 bushels.

Winnipeg futures closed ¼ lower to ½ higher.

Coarse grains: Oats and barley were dull, with nothing of feature going on. Rye was again strong with some buying that was credited to seaboard and it was understood that Germany was again in the market for rye following up her purchases last week.

Oats closed 1½ to 2½ higher, barley ¾ to 1½ lower and rye 1½ to 2½ higher.

Flax: This market was firmer, closing half to two cents higher.

CHICAGO
(By Logan & Bryan)
Chicago, Nov. 9.—Wheat: The market gave another demonstration to-day of the remarkable buying force under it. After a sharp downturn early, prices started an irregular uptick which carried the market to a new high level for the movement. Unconfirmed rumors of war to the Far East provided some of the buying and there was some early support on the Argentine frosts reported in the pampas.

Rains in northern Argentina also are unfavorable at this time. Cash wheat prices southwest are at the best premium levels on the crop. On the other hand, the market has quite outstripped the export trade, and foreigners are showing less enthusiasm on the buying-side. However, the fact that wheat is still cheap, that Russia is not supplying Europe with wheat needed and expected, that holders in this country are less willing to sell, that the southern hemisphere offering will be comparatively small and that consumption the world over is heavy, are factors.

Winter wheat reports from Kansas and Texas panhandle are decidedly pessimistic and the repetition of last year's small crop northwest is likely unless weather conditions change decidedly, with the same true of Canada.

Reactions to be expected, all fall setbacks look for good support. Visible supply increased 1,507,000 bushels. North American clearances were the largest of any week in a long while at 10,522,000 bushels with total world exports 18,526,000 bushels and a decrease of passage of 520,000 bushels.

Corn had a strong undertone after being weak early. The cash demand was moderate while country bookings were fair at 46,000 bushels, with receipts 278 cars estimated. Weather conditions were fine. Primary receipts were 738,000 bushels against 851,000 bushels a year ago. Visible increased 658,000 bushels, commission buying absorbed the offering. The cash demand and the great strength in wheat and rye caused free buying at times, as well as checking selling.

Would be cautious following bulge, as new crop corn is moving in great volume and the shipping trade is not at all active.

Oats: This grain showed a moderate broadening of interest which we think is a preliminary to a more active trade and higher prices. With the statistical position of oats so strong and so little pressure on cash or future, the market has been held behind by other grains.

Think outlook is for a sharp uptick in this grain. Visible increased 207,000 bushels, the largest of any week in a long while at 10,522,000 bushels with total world exports 18,526,000 bushels and a decrease of passage of 520,000 bushels.

Rye took a position of leadership in the market with a bigger advance than in any other grains. Eastern interests are pressing early. The cash demand is inherently strong position in rye is now being reflected in the action of the market. Visible increased 66,000 bushels.

Captain Blames Mate
For Loss of Vessel

Freighter Munleon Is Total Wreck on Rocks Off California Coast; Crew of Thirty Saved by U.S. Coastguardsmen

San Francisco, Nov. 9.—The Chronicle to-day quoted Captain Otto Hengst of the freighter Munleon, which was wrecked on the rocks at Point Reyes, Saturday night, as saying the wreck was due to mistake in bearings on the part of third mate Chris Nielsen.

The Munleon, which grounded Saturday as she proceeded from San Francisco to Portland, was being slowly broken up by wind and wave to-day. She was given up as a total loss by her owners, the McCormack Steamship company.

Captain Hengst, The Chronicle said, left Nielsen on the bridge and the third mate, he claimed, mistook the buoy light at Duxbury Reef, south of Point Reyes, for the Point Reyes Beacon.

Consequently, Captain Hengst said, Nielsen altered his course earlier than expected. With the result the vessel ran on the rocks.

The captain said his charges were sustained by entries made in the log book. Weather and fog, he asserted, had nothing to do with the wreck.

Investigation by federal steamboat inspectors was anticipated as the captain's story contradicted previous reports of other officers and members of the crew.

Panama Traffic Is Delayed By Landslide

Balboa, Canal Zone, Nov. 9.—A landslide occurred yesterday evening in the Galliard Cut of the Panama Canal as the result of incessant rains which have caused engineers to take precautions against flood.

Reports said 250,000 square yards of earth had fallen into the cut, leaving only a thirty-foot channel. Dredging already is at work, but traffic will be tied up probably for several days.

MAUREEN O'SULLIVAN APPEARING IN "THE PRINCESS AND THE PLUMBER"

In preparing to make "The Princess and the Plumber" for Fox Movietone Director Alexander Korda wanted to be sure his leading lady, Maureen O'Sullivan, would be able to acquit herself properly in a riding sequence. He called up a riding academy and arranged for a course of lessons to be given the girl, and the next day proudly told her about it.

Maureen, however, only laughed instead of expressing the thanks Korda expected, and puzzled, the director turned to Charles Farrell, who plays the leading role, for an explanation.

"Well," said Charlie, "Maureen's father was a British army officer, and he's had her on horseback since the time she could toddle. She keeps a stable of her own in Ireland and had her own favorite hunter brought over here just to keep in trim between pictures."

Miss O'Sullivan's riding ability is evident in many of the scenes in this unique comedy romance, now playing at the Playhouse Theatre. H. B. Warner is also featured, and Joseph Cavron, Bert Roach, Louise Clover, Hale are also in the strong cast supporting Farrell.

"As You Were" To Open At Royal This Evening

Dumbbells Return to Victoria With All Male Show; Old Favorites Are Back Again to Entertain Local Audiences

Capt. M. W. Plunkett and his famous all-men theatrical company, The Dumbbells, arrived in Victoria yesterday, after a successful week in Vancouver with their production, "As You Were." They will open at the Royal Victoria Theatre this evening.

The Dumbbells are playing longer engagements, but no return dates this season. The reason for this, Capt. Plunkett states, was in order to devote the cost of the usual two revues to one just a bit bigger and better than ever before. This also applies to the material, the songs and the sketches. Instead of holding out a few of the best for the return show, they were all incorporated into "As You Were."

The Dumbbells report splendid business throughout the west, as well as in the Ontario towns, which they visited early in the fall.

Ross Hamilton, Al Plunkett, "Red" Newman, Glenn Allan, "Scotty" Morrison and others of the old guard, are on hand. Several new faces also appear, among them being Don Romaine, an impersonator of international fame, and Joe Carr, former Broadway star.

The Dumbbells will play three days here, including a special matinee and military night on Wednesday, Armistice Day.

Following their visit here, The Dumbbells will go to Nanaimo for one night and then eastward in quick jumps to fulfill their holiday-time bookings in Toronto and Montreal.

WALTER HUSTON PLAYING IN "THE STAR WITNESS" AT COLISEUM THEATRE

All the respect due to old age was given Charles (Chico) Sale during the filming of "The Star Witness," the Warner Bros. production, now at the Coliseum Theatre. This in spite of the fact that he is in his early thirties. Sale's character in the picture is that of his well known Grampa Summerville, an eighty-year-old veteran of the Civil War whose age is a matter of years and not of body spirit. Sale's makeup was perfect, and the baggy regimentals looked the part so well, that property boys, laborers and even other players constantly were offering him chairs, drinks of water, and advising him to rest now and take it easy.

Vina Delmar Novel Is At Dominion Theatre

"Bad Girl" Was Best Seller and Smashing Stage Hit of Last Season; Sally Eilers Heads Splendid Cast of Popular Players

"Bad Girl," Vina Delmar's profound study of motherhood as it affects a typical young couple of New York's working class, sensational best seller among recent novels of youth, and small stage hit of the past season, has now reached the screen with Sally Eilers and James Dunn in the co-featured leads.

Frank Borzage, known as the master interpreter of pathos and human emotion, directed this Fox film production which is the featured attraction at the Dominion Theatre. Much of the emotional appeal of the film is said to be due to Borzage's aptitude for portraying the intense drama of life and love.

An admirable supporting cast surrounds the co-featured principals in this production which is said to have been most lavishly staged and produced. It includes Mima Gombell, Frank Darlow, William Pawley and many others.

Edwin Burke, author and dramatist of many past stage and screen successes, adapted "Bad Girl" in continuity and dialogue for the screen version. According to advance reports from cities where this film drama has played, it tells its story with absorbing interest.

Vina Delmar Novel Is At Dominion Theatre

"Bad Girl" Was Best Seller and Smashing Stage Hit of Last Season; Sally Eilers Heads Splendid Cast of Popular Players

"Bad Girl," Vina Delmar's profound study of motherhood as it affects a typical young couple of New York's working class, sensational best seller among recent novels of youth, and small stage hit of the past season, has now reached the screen with Sally Eilers and James Dunn in the co-featured leads.

Frank Borzage, known as the master interpreter of pathos and human emotion, directed this Fox film production which is the featured attraction at the Dominion Theatre. Much of the emotional appeal of the film is said to be due to Borzage's aptitude for portraying the intense drama of life and love.

An admirable supporting cast surrounds the co-featured principals in this production which is said to have been most lavishly staged and produced. It includes Mima Gombell, Frank Darlow, William Pawley and many others.

Edwin Burke, author and dramatist of many past stage and screen successes, adapted "Bad Girl" in continuity and dialogue for the screen version. According to advance reports from cities where this film drama has played, it tells its story with absorbing interest.
